Resnick's Committee Troubles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y., says he wonders whether the House Agriculture Committee is an arm of Congress or of the American Farm Bureau Federation, since many members are in both.

Slapped on Probe

The representative from Ellenville, N.Y., raised that question Wednesday, shortly after the committee slapped down Resnick's recent probe of the farm bureau's tax - exempt status.

The House committee voted 27-1 on a proposal to show that it "does in no manner endorse, condone, or support any personal attack launched by the chairman of the subcommittee on rural development upon any person or organization."

Soon after that proposal was passed, Resnick, raised the question of whether the committee was an arm of the House or the Farm Bureau.

"This is a clear-cut case not only of conflict of interest, but of improper lobbying pressure unheard of since the days of the robber barons," Resnick asserted.

He also charged that the Farm Bureau was the author of the resolution aimed at him.

"By this time their publicity machine has already announced to the nation that they have successfully manipulated the affairs of a committee of Congress," Resnick said.

Resnick, who is chairman of a House agriculture subcommittee, sparked the furor in recent hearings held by his committee in which he said the Farm Bureau has a tax exemption for a profitable insurance business while claiming to be principally an agricultural organization.

Out of Realm

W. R. Poage, chairman of the House committee, said Wednesday he does not believe "the Agriculture Committee has any business to determine whether the farm bureau or the Catholic Church is paying taxes"

Rep. Bill Nichols, D-Ala, author of the resolution passed by the committee, said he had no intention of questioning "the truth or falsity" or any charges raised by Resnick. Nichols said Resnick's charges were not in the context of his subcommittee's work.

Poage admitted there are members of the Farm Bureau on his committee. "I am and have been for 30 years and I also am a member of the Farmers Union. I think farm organizations are a good thing," Poage said.

Backed by O'Hara

Resnick gained support from Rep. James G. O'Hara, D-Mich, who told the House he believed the committee's action was a dangerous precedent and an "inhibition upon the right of free inquiry."

The Internal Revenue Service has decided to investigate the tax-exempt status o fthe Farm Bureau.

Rep Eligio de la Garza, D-Tex., cast the only vote against the resolution.

Elston, Bank In Talks

Negotiations for the purchase of the Elston Building on Fair Street by the Ulster County Savings Bank are underway, it was learned from a reliable source today by The Freeman. Mentioned in a report is the price of $93,000 might be involved in the transaction.

Alfred Schmid, vice-president of the potential purchaser, said this morning that "no papers have been signed." From other sources it was learned that if and when the transaction is consumated the present building will be removed and the land will be developed into a parking lot for use by bank patrons.

The land is adjacent to a parcel purchased several months ago by Ulster County Savings Bank. The two properties would provide a spacious parking area.

Schmid confirmed a report that the bank has been interested in the Fair Street property for some time and that negotiations for the acquisition of Elston's property are underway.

Walter T. Elston, owner of the building which houses the Elston Sport Shop at 269 Fair Street, said "there is nothing definite" but admitted that the bank "has been interested" in the property at 267-269 Fair Street, and if the bank takes over the parcel it probably would be used for parking of vehicles.

A few years ago the sport shop operated by Elston moved from 260 Fair Street to its present quarters after the Kingston Trust Company banking house at Fair and Main Streets acquired the property adjoining the bank.

With the passing of title to Kingston Trust for the parcel of property at 260 Fair, title was passed to Elston for the former Standard Furniture land and building at Elston's present location. Before moving to 267-269 Fair, extensive alterations were made for the sport shop owner.

Uptown Stores Slate Weekend Sidewalk Sale

Delancey Street comes to Kingston this week as Uptown Businessmen slate an old-fashioned sidewalk sale promotion.

Friday and Saturday merchants in the uptown area will display sale merchandise on tables in front of stores. The streets will not be closed and a spokesman for the businessmen's association noted there will be ample, convenient parking for sales-minded shoppers.

The businessmen are planning Uptown Kingston Dollar Days for Aug. 3, 4 and 5 as well as Back-to-School sales at the end of summer.

Sub-committees masterminding the three events are George Manson, Paul Mezer and Leo Alpert, sidewalk sale; Stanley London, Irwin Miller, Gordon Dew and Robert Hollingshead, Dollar Days; Elmore Yallum, Carmine Wiley and Gus Foerschler, Back-to-School.

Frank Kolts, recently installed for his third term as president of the Uptown Businessmen's Association, urged customers to visit the business area during Sidewalk Sales and browse through the many bargains offered.

UR AGENCY LEADERS—Frank A. Reis, third from left, was reelected chairman of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency Wednesday night. Also named (L) William T. Civic Duty: Reis In Continuing as Chairman of UR

By CHARLES R. DOUGLAS

Kingston Urban renewal, beset with controversy since the start of this year, is to proceed, at least for the balance of this year with the same supervision it was decided Wednesday night when Frank A. Reis was reelected chairman of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency and other agency members were retained.

Criticism Spirals

Criticism a few months ago of the KURA procedure in downtown's Broadway East project spiraled to the point of Common Council action Tuesday night in suspending salary payments to Eric Hemphill, KURA executive director.

First criticism and salary suspension came from the New York office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, which, as noted in a resolution unanimously adopted Wednesday night, by the KURA, had recommended Hemphill as the local director.

The resolution, in part, holds that Hemphill in this year's controversy has been the "whipping boy."

Reis, who had indicated that he was tired of the "abuse" heaped upon him in the controversy, after his reelection said:

"Conscious of the many phone calls, personal contacts by professional, business and executive citizens in the community, and the insistence of all members of the agency, I feel it a civic duty to carry on for the present."

Reis said he plans to discuss local urban renewal as it now stands with officials of the DHUD in New York next week. Demolition downtown has been suspended and the KURA still has relocation problems to deal with.

The KURA resolution:

"The Kingston Urban Renewal Agency recognizes that it is not above criticism; that in making determinations others might have made contrary determinations. Nevertheless it is of the opinion that an extended self-serving declaration of defense by it at this time will only add fuel to troubled waters.

"With respect to Downtown urban renewal, what is now needed for the good of the city is action and progress and not a stymied impass to leave physical conditions a virtual wasteland as now exists.

"In a project of this magnitude involved, with the exercise of the soverign right of condemnation of properties, many citizens will be disturbed in ownership and occupancy of properties. This causes an arousal of passions and diminution of the spirit of reasonableness.

"With this background our policies and actions that might be subject to venial criticisms, have been distorted into a picture of major ineptitude.

"Our executive director, Eric Hemphill, came to us upon recommendation of the New York office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development. As we came to know him, we found him to be kindly and courteous, and fully endowed with the most human feeling for all citizens in the project area. He has worked long hours, far in excess of the normal working day. He is able and skilled and highly competent not only in his background and knowledge, but also in carrying out what should be done.

"We feel that he has unfairly become a whipping boy and the symbol and target of every gripe that exists in our city with respect to urban renewal.

"So long as he is employed as our executive director, he should be compensated. To take any other position than to favor payment for work done would be cruel, inhuman and unjust treatment to one who deserves no such fate."

Reis said he felt that the agency "has lived up to all the rules, laws and regulations of the regional and Washington offices, as well as the urban renewal manual covering the policies and requirements for local public agencies. Any projects contemplated or which had transpired, was not the doing of the KURA as for the past six months we have been directed at every point by the field representative for the regional office."

Reis submitted a background resume showing that from 1928 to 1930 he was supervisor for the Standard Oil Company of New York covering gasoline service stations in the Hudson Valley.

Along with the election of Reis as chairman, William T. Mahoney was elected vice-chairman; Edmund S. Peppard, secretary; David Schechter treasurer and Attorney Vincent G. Connelly assistant treasurer.

Sterley Replies on Leadership

Gorman Scores GOP on Charter

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, newly-elected chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Party, charged Republican supervisors with neglect in proceeding with the charter for the reorganization of county government and made some observations on the new leadership of Ulster's GOP.

John B. Sterley, chairman of the Republican Party, answered Gorman's remarks in a statement made to The Freeman today.

'Dragging Feet'

Gorman announced that a resolution will be introduced at the August meeting of the County Board of Supervisors criticizing GOP supervisors in general, and Chairman Peter J. Savago (R-New Paltz) in particular, for "dragging their feet" in the matter of the adoption of a new charter for the County of Ulster.

At the February meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee in Rosendale, a resolution was adopted and widely publicized to petition the Board of Supervisors to appoint a Charter Commission, pursuant to Article 4 of the Municipal Home Rule Law, to prepare a charter for the county, including a county executive and an effective legislature.

Charges GOP 'Stole It'

Dr. Gorman said, "This proposal met with such popular approval that the Republicans stole it" and he adds that, "The people of Ulster County want an inexpensive government designed to eliminate waste and inefficiency and to minimize the opportunities for graft."

Gorman contends that the Republicans "stole the proposal in order to bury it and have so far succeeded."

Town of Ulster Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz introduced a March 4 Republican resolution calling for the setting up of a county charter form of government. The resolution calls for the appointment of a 15-man committee to report back to the board with a proposed county charter by September 30.

The resolution provided that the charter incorporate the position of County Executive to be elected by the voters of the county and also provided for the allocation of $5,000 to the commission to get on with the work.

'No Action Taken'

The Democratic leader says that, "except for rumors that Chairman Savago has several persons under consideration as committee members, no action has been taken to implement the resolution, and it appears hardly likely that the commission can submit the proposed charter within the designated time."

Edward R. Mance, clerk for the Board of Supervisors, told The Freeman today that "the names have been compiled" and that "Chairman Savago is authorized to present the names to the supervisors."

Could Be Tonight

Mance said that Savago could present the names at tonight's meeting of the Board, but he added that there must be an acceptance on the part of the designees.

Claims Wilson in Charge

Gorman said that the Republican reorganization "demonstrates that the name of the game is still the same" and that "Mr. Wilson is still in charge."

Sterley Reply

GOP Chairman Sterley, commenting on the Gorman assessment of his leadership, said, "Mr. Wilson is no longer County Chairman and neither did Mr. Wilson continue as a leader under another name. The name has been changed, the control of the Republican Party has been changed and while the County Chairman is no spring chicken, he considers himself to have had sufficient experience along political lines which is what is needed to conduct the affairs of the Republican Party in Ulster County."

Sterley added, If Dr. Gorman will take a further look at other members of the organization, he will find that there are people who are younger and do possess excellent judgment, politically speaking."

The GOP chairman said that, "as time goes along Dr. Gorman may find that those in control of affairs of Republicans in Ulster County may prove to have greater ability than what he may wish to believe."

Pakistani Move Against Israel Due for Adoption

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. diplomats predicted today that the General Assembly could adopt a Pakistani resolution asking the Security Council to force Israel to give up the Old City of Jerusalem.

Some delegates expected that several of the 15 council members might abstain or even vote against the proposal to avoid committing themselves to support such a strong measure.

Reiterates Call

The Pakistani proposal "deplores the failure of Israel to implement" an earlier assembly request and "reiterates its call to Israel" to rescind its annexation measures.

Pakistani Ambassador Agha Shahi, introducing the resolution Wednesday charged that in "the flush of military success, Israel presumes to say to the assembly: "We will go ahead with whatever we mean to do: You can say what you like.' "

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban wrote Secretary-General U Thant Monday that the term annexation was out of place for the "administrative and municipal measures" Israel took in Jerusalem after the June war.

Indicating that Israel had no intention of dissolving the merger, Eban said his government's aim is to see the holy places "integrated into the life of a Jerusalem that shall survive in unity and in spiritual elevation."

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko endorsed the Pakistani resolution and charged Israel with "insolent and provocative defiance of the United Nations." He also said the assembly must "take the most energetic measures to ensure the withdrawal of Israeli forces" from territory they occupied in Egypt, Syria and Jordan.

The assembly failed to pass such a resolution in the voting July 4 because the members were divided over a nonaligned proposal calling for an unconditional withdrawal and a Latin American resolution calling also for an end to Arab belligerency against Israel.

Sponsors of the two resolutions are trying to draft a new one that could get the two-thirds majority necessary for adoption.

In Budapest, Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev emerged from a two-day meeting with the Communist government chief of eastern Europe declaring continued economic, political and military support for the Arabs.

Arabs Continue

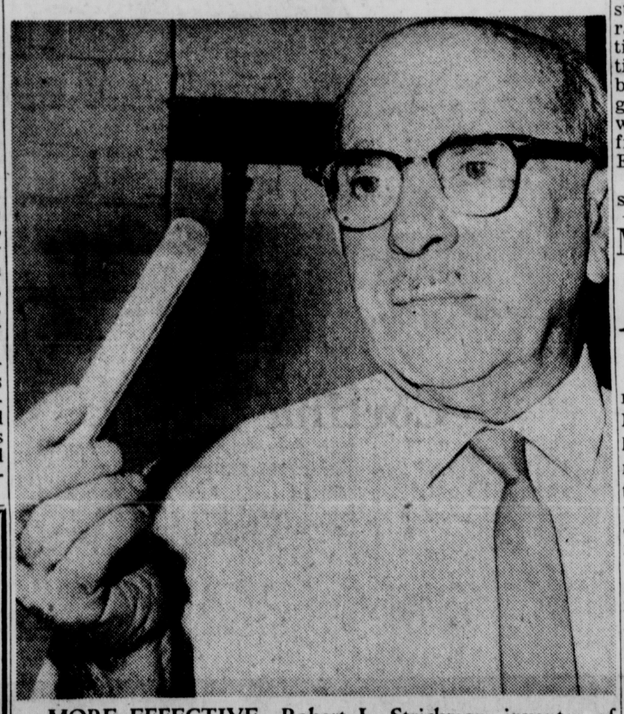

Observers in Moscow believed the meeting was held so the Soviet leaders could bring their east European allies up to date on Kosygin's trip to the United Nations, his summit talks in Glassboro with President Johnson, and on Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny's visits last month to Cairo, Damascus and Baghdad.

McNamara Reports to President

Military Chiefs Want 25,000 More Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says he's "not sure how many" more U.S. troops must be sent to Vietnam, but top military officers say privately at least 25,000 are required just to regain lost momentum.

McNamara, back from his ninth trip to Vietnam, told President Johnson Wednesday more Americans must be dispatched to the war-torn Southeast Asian nation. He said there's no need to call up reserves, however.

Tops List

The subjct was expected to be at the top of the list again today at a meeting of the National Security Council. Expected to join that session is Gen. William C Westmoreland, commander of U.S. troops in Vietnam, who flew into Washington Wednesday night after attending his mother's funeral in Columbia, S.C.

He said on arrival that "if we have additional men, the result would be a greater pressure being brought to bear on the enemy."

Military officers contend the U.S. war effort has lost momentum in recent weeks due to troop shifts toward Vietnam's so-called demilitarized zone. They say privately the manpower decisions now under consideration at the White House will determine whether the war's progress moves at its current pace, slacks off or picks up.

McNamara told newsmen Wednesday 20,000 to 30,000 more men probably will be sent to Vietnam in the next 90 days as par of previously determined increases in manpower. But he said he did not know when a new force level decision would be reached.

He said 450,000 to 460,000 U.S. troops now are in Vietnam. President Johnson, the military believes, is faced with basically three considerations.

—"We can assume there will be no more forces—but at a cost of slowing the momentum of the war," one ranking officer said.

"—We can restore the momentum with one division." This would fill gaps left when about 15,000 Army troops are pulled northward to back up Marines battling intensified Communist thrusts along the DMZ.

—"We can step up the pace with forces beyond that."

"The unfortunate part is that we can't predict as to the duration or termination of the war under any of those three options."

This officer, whose views may be indicative of the military recommendaions to President Johnson, said the United States "could profitably employ" as many as five additional divisions in South Vietnam.

This would carry the manpower level up 200,000.

There is, however, no great optimism among military men about the likelihood of getting anywhere near 200,000 in the next 12 months. Two divisions—75,000 or so men—appear to be the more likely total. The Army training structure has the capacity to train up to 90,000 for Vietnam in the next 12 months if draft calls are increased.

In addition to replacing relocated troops with one division, military planners would deploy another division numbering perhaps 45,000 men in Vietnam's Central Highlands.

Its mission would be to seal off Communist infiltration into South Vietnam's Konum Province along the country's boundary with Cambodia and Laos.

Other combat units could be used near the DMZ "to help," as this officer expressed it, "share the pounding" currently being dealt the Marines by North Vietnamese ground and artillery units.

Null Dezta

There is also the question of whether to send sizable manpower into the Mekong Delta where the Viet Cong number an estimated 80,000.

But the top requirement at the moment is for 25,000 men to fill in where others have been pulled out, from South Vietnam's middle II and III Corps areas.

Because of this withdrawal, the rate of scheduled U.S. attacks on enemy base camps, particularly in the so-called Iron Triangle area north of Saigon, has dropped drastically.

Area First Aid Squad Acquires New Ambulance

Members of Kerhonkson-Accord First Aid Squad convened at the squad building recently with President Wayne Kelder conducting the meeting.

It was announced that a new ambulance has arrived and will soon be in service. Richard Ballard will supervise the repainting and lettering of this vehicle with assistance from Floyd Countryman, Lawrence Van Gasbeck, and Judson Barringer. The vehicle is a Cadillac and was formerly used by another squad in the county.

Captain Barringer reported that 24 calls were handled during June with the crews having traveled 764 miles while using 73 gallons of gas, serving 117 hours and 25 minutes.

Thirty-four members were involved in the calls which included six possible heart seizures, four possible fractures, two dead-on-arrival, and 22 transports. These calls aided 29 victims with first aid being given to seven of the victims.

It was reported that the Town of Wawarsing will donate funds for the purchase of a new resuscitator and two spare oxygen tanks.

Van Gasbeck will be acting lieutenant until October 1, replacing Earl Gray, who requested a leave of absence.

The members agreed that Kerhonkson-Accord First Aid Squad become a member of the Ulster County Ambulance Association. Seymour Pacht will represent the group at county meetings with Ed Pomerantz as alternate.

Monday at 8 p. m. there will be a workshop dealing with the use of cravats and bandaging. The next regular business meeting will be held on August 14 at the squad building on Route 209 at 8 p. m.

Could Settle Vietnam Without China: Kosygin

By RELMAN MORIN
AP Special Correspondent

DEEP COVE, Nova Scotia (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin says the war in Vietnam is "susceptible to settlement, without the participation or endorsement of China," Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland industrialist said today in an interview.

"He was very positive about this," Eaton said.

Sees Link

At the same time, the financier continued, Kosygin links the Vietnamese war with the conflict between the Arabs and Israelis. The Soviet leader has demanded an "immediate withdrawal" of Israeli troops from Arab territory overrun in the fighting.

Eaton said he had a conversation lasting 4½ hours with Kosygin in Canada on June 30. The Soviet leader had conferred with President Johnson in Glassboro, N.J., and with Fidel Castro in Havana. He stopped in Canada en route to Paris where he met with President Charles de Gaulle. Eaton said Kosygin sent word to him through the Soviet Embassy in Washington, asking a meeting in Gander, Newfoundland.

The industrialist said Anatoly Doylnitszyn of the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa served as the interpreter.

For more than 10 years, Eaton has been on cordial terms with the Soviet leaders. He received the Lenin Peace Prize in 1960. He frequently talked with Nikita S. Khrushchev and Anastas I. Mikoyan. Eaton said he has known Kosygin for about 10 years.

Asks of Economy

Eaton said Kosygin opened their conversation by questioning him about the state of the American economy. He said he replied, "There has been a slight falling off, but on the whole it's excellent." The discussion then turned to the presidential election next year and Kosygin asked Eaton about the potential Republican candidates. Eaton said he mentioned those in the news but Kosygin made no comment.

With respect to the Glassboro conferences, Eaton said, "He was pleased with reception in the United States and agreeably impressed with President Johnson.

"He felt that their meetings were constructive and helpful in terms of over-all objectives. Each presented his general view of the outstanding foreign problems.

"He is a consensus man, of course, and wants to report more fully to his associates. But I think he would welcome more talks with the President."

Eaton expressed the view that Moscow "will stand by North Vietnam with all resources, financial and military," adding

Have Commitments

"They have their commitments to Vietnam and the Arabs and they can't be disregarded."

The industrialist said Kosygin told him he "felt they were on the verge of a settlement of the Vietnamese question" when the Soviet premier was in London last February, talking with Prime Minister Harold Wilson. "There was a formula," Eaton said, "but he did not go into details with me."

Eaton said the resumption of American bombing of North Vietnam set back the alleged progress toward a settlement. He said Kosygin told him: "Vietnam is the major problem. I thought we had agreed to a formula. The question is susceptible to settlement, without the participation or endorsement of Red China."

Sees Solution

Eaton said Kosygin believes "the problems between China and Russia eventually will be worked out. He feels the solutions would come more rapidly if there were an over-all effort to reduce the tensions in the world and cut back the arms race."

Asked if he gathered that the Soviet leaders may be more frightened of Red China now that the Chinese have exploded nuclear devices, Eaton replied, sharply, "They're not afraid of anybody."

Loyalty March Set

An Ulster County Loyalty Day Parade, the first in the area in many years, is planned by Uniformed Fire Fighter's Association, Local 461, AFL-CIO, for Saturday, Sept. 23, according to Hugh Greer, secretary of the local.

A meeting is planned for Monday, July 17, at 8:30 p. m. with representatives of the press and radio. Sponsors of the event will discuss preliminary plans for the parade, which committee members hope will be one of the best and longest ever held in the area.

All volunter fire companies, veterans posts, Boy and Girl Scout troopers, musical units, labor, fraternal and civic organizations and other groups are invited to join with the fire fighters in displaying loyalty to the country.

Greer said that any group interested in participating in planning for the parade and taking part in the event in September, should write to Loyalty Day Parade Committee, CPO Box 233, Kingston, N. Y. 12401.

Ulster Blonde Vies for State Title in Olean

A tall blonde Ulster County miss will be among 20 young ladies parading before judges today in swimsuits and evening gowns as each vies for the title of Miss New York State.

The Associated Press reports the contestants, including Susan Schoonmaker of Stone Ridge, will be graded for their individual talent during competition tonight and Friday night at the state pageant in Olean.

Miss Schoonmaker was named Miss Ulster County at the county pageant held in October at Saugerties. In addition to winning the swimsuit competition, she was also named Miss Congeniality by the other local contestants. Her talent was a modern Go-Go dance.

A crowd, estimated by police as over 30,000 persons, watched a parade Wednesday night that formally opened the annual state pageant. All 20 contestants were introduced to the onlookers as the young ladies rode by in open convertible autos.

Over 85 marching units and floats moved along the line of march.

ITU Hits Plan For Financially Ill Newspapers

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The AFL-CIO International Typographical Union urged Congress today to reject an antitrust law exemption proposed for financially troubled newspapers, and instead consider setting fair price requirements for news services and features.

"We suggest an expansion of opportunity for a free press, rather than the lynching proposed," ITU president Elmer Brown told the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee.

"The government might see that news services, features, advertising mat services and other needs for a newspaper be made available to all on fair price basis. Many other commodities are regulated by fair trade practices to prevent unfair competition and monopoly," Brown said.

MRS. FLORENCE IRWIN

UCCC Nursing Director to Start in Fall

Mrs. Florence Irwin, formerly associated with Hudson River State Hospital in Poughkeepsie, has been named director of the Associate Degree Nursing Program at Ulster Community College, which will start in September, 1968, President George B. Erbstein said today.

Mrs. Irwin will have the rank of an associate professor and will begin her duties at UCCC in September, 1967.

Two-Year Program

"A full year of preparation before the start of classes is needed in order to insure quality education for our future nurses," said President Erbstein.

The college plans a program that will give nursing students an understanding and appreciation of the role of nursing in today's society. The program will be designed to provide graduates with sufficient basic knowledge and skill to enable them to provide efficient patient care, to achieve self-support and to satisfactorily fill the personally satisfying positions now open in the field of nursing.

Mrs. Irwin will be involved in obtaining a staff for the nursing program, will formulate the content of classes that will be offered, and will make arrangements for needed facilities in addition, she will work with the College's Admissions Office to set up criteria for the admission of students into the nursing program and will visit local schools to explain the nursing program.

The College's Nursing Program will be two years in length, starting in September, 1968.

Mrs. Irwin has had extensive experience in setting up nursing programs at community colleges in Kentucky. First she served as acting chairman of the Associate Degree Nursing Program at Henderson Community College in Henderson, Ky., and then she served as chairman of the Associate Degree Nursing Program at the Lexington Technical Institute, University of Kentucky Community College, Lexington, Ky. As part of her responsibility in the latter position, she organized and developed the entire Associate Degree Nursing Program.

Mrs. Irwin received he diploma in nursing from the Hudson River State Hospital School of Nursing in 1940. She received her bachelor's degree in nursing from Teachers College, Columbia University in 1961, and her master's degre in 1963 from the same institution, majoring in administration - teaching associate degree programs.

Two-State Licenses

Mrs. Irwin holds RN licenses in both the states of New York and Kentucky, and has recently attended many workshops and institutes in her area of specialization.

Her professional experience is extensive, including positions of staff nurse, private nurse, public health nurse and general duty nurse. Before going to Kentucky, Mrs. Irwin served as a nursing instructor at Hudson River State Hospital, Morrisania State Hospital in the Bronx and Mt. St. Mary College in Newburgh.

The College, according to President Erbstein, plans to work closely with hospitals and other health services and their facilities for securing extensive clinical experiences for its nursing students. In addition, U. C. C. C. plans to make arrangements to utilize private agencies, nursing homes and a variety of other facilities for other broadening experiences for the nursing student.

Museum Acquires Park

The Senate Parking Lot, adjacent to the Senate House and Museum, was deeded today to the New York State Historic Trust by the joint owners, the Ulster County Savings Bank and The State of New York National Bank.

In announcing the sale, Howard C. St. John and A. Raymond Atkins, presidents respectively of the two banking institutions, said:

"For some time past it has been the sentiment of our trustees and directors that this strategically located plot of land should be dedicated to some vital public usage in a growing and revitalized main business section of uptown Kingston. In all probability, this feeling was somewhat influential in inducing our two banks to jointly acquire the property when it became available last year."

"In the interim, in view of a public plea for additional parking in the uptown area, the Ulster County Savings Bank and The State of New York National Bank undertook an experiment to determine how valid that plea might be. The plot therefore was opened early last fall for free parking for bank customers, for free parking for uptown merchants' customers under a plan that had prevalied theretofore and for general public parking at a fee traditional to the lot. It was not popularly used. But by so doing, we were able to recover a small part of the maintenance expenses of the land and thus buy time for the State of New York to secure funds for an eventual more important usage. The sale was made to the State at no profit to the banks over their original acquisition costs."

John Paul Remensnyder, president of the Trustees of the Senate House, commented on the land transfer:

"I believe I speak for all the trustees in saying we are highly pleased that the opportunity has been provided for the State to acquire the property adjoining the Senate House and Museum. For some time it has been apparent that it was logical to take this step for possible expansion of museum facilities. More and more of the general public, at home and from other parts of the country, are constantly discovering that the Senate House is an unparalleled example of a unique 17th century building."

Says Car Stolen

Mrs. Shirley Cafferty, 40, of 11 Wallkill Avenue, Tillson, notified police at 8:49 p. m. Wednesday that her car had been stolen from near the county office building on Main Street.

Rotary Governor Visits

William J. Nichols of Hyde Park, newly elected governor of District 721, Rotary International, made an official visit to Kingston Rotary Club Wednesday and brought a message from Rotary International to "Let's Make Our Membership Effective."

In his talk to committee chairmen and to the assembly, the district governor emphasized that Rotary is a vehicle for man's highest instinct to help his fellowman.

Tickets for the annual Kingston Rotary Club barbecue to be held at the New York State Armory on Manor Avenue Saturday, Aug. 19, were distributed to members. An antique and art show will be held in conjunction with the barbecue.

District Governor Nichols is a member of the Hyde Park Rotary Club, which he served as secretary, vice-president and president and was governor's aide.

District 721 is comprised of Rotary Clubs in Ulster, Orange, Sullivan, Putnam, Rockland, Greene, Columbia and Dutchess Counties. Kingston Rotary is the oldest club in the district.

The special gavel used by the district governor was devised and designed by Frederic Snyder as "The Ten Commandments Governor's Gavel" and is symbolic of the tablet of stone. The author says "It is proposed that the gavel be handed from governor to governor that it may serve as a vivid reminder of our debt of devotion to Moses for his blessed bequest, arriving in the Tablets of Stone, which herald the laws for conduct most pleasing to God.

"Moses was one of the outstanding men in world history. He was the embodiment of love to God and service to man. He triumphed over the torments of life. A direct agent of God on earth he aided all mankind. The Ten Commandments undergird the ethics universally applied by Rotary and society.

"This gavel is to prompt Rotary to honor his name as they publish the official motto, 'He Profits Most Who Serves Best.'"

RIOT ALERT-ROOM

A street mob gathering in Buffalo, a hint of violence in Dayton, a nasty racial incident in Chicago, window smashing in Niagara Falls—that is the daily grist of bad news that flows into an alert-room in the Department of Justice in Washington. This is the second year this information center has kept the Government's peace officers advised of rumblings across the country that might become serious race riots and demonstrations.

The listening post is unpublicized. A shift of law clerks and a senior attorney is on duty day and night, throughout the week. It was established in the hope that it would develop into an early warning system to prevent race riots before they started. It has not worked out quite that way, though it has been useful.

The idea was that the systematic collection of riot data might show a pattern that would make the flashpoint incidents predictable. However, the first summer's experience suggested that the potential for riots—prejudice, bad housing, police altercations—is present in every big city and that unpredictables, obscure incidents, really start the trouble.

The fact is that in just about all cases, responsible Negro groups report that outsiders came in and stirred up feelings that caused the bad blood. So much so, that Atlanta Negroes asked Stokely Carmichael and his ilk to get out and leave them to manage their own affairs. No alert post is needed for such cases, but a roundup of the agitators and their removal from the field of action.

The Communist terms, the racial uprisings are blatantly called, "The second stage of the the American Revolution." That we man an alert post to watch the little fires but do nothing to apprehend the known leaders is incomprehensible. We must make it clear to the countries that pay the subversives in our midst that we will have no more of this, else we will deserve the third and climactic stage three of the revolution and its terrible consequences.

Berkeley Municipal Judge George Brunn has jailed more than 400 of the 576 involved in the 1964 sit-ins in Sproul Hall of the University of California. The most recent were the leaders, Mario Savio, and Bettina Aptheker Kurzweil, an avowed Communist. Sentencing followed rejection of final appeals by the U.S. Supreme Court.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

POLITICIANS AND HOME OWNERSHIP

The ineffable former Governor "Pat" Brown of California, who doesn't yet know what hit him last November, made the most maddeningly confusing speech of his life the other day at a Washington, D. C., conference on metropolitan problems sponsored by the National Institute of Public Affairs. Part of the speech harped on the alleged way conservatives have of covering up complexity "by working overtime to seem uncomplicated and obvious." The rest of the talk was a denunciation of people like Ronald Reagan for putting all their trust in "voluntarism."

These were expected gambits, and Pat Brown was simply being a politician in trying to get his enemies down. But what was really maddening about the Brown talk was its own unconscious simplistic quality. It is all very well to denounce a naive trust in total "voluntarism" and praise the State for doing things for individuals which they can't do for themselves, but it is either sheer stupidity or sheer demagogy to assume that any State action is good action, and that there are no gradations in social thinking which allow for a type of State responsibility that consists of encouraging individual responsibility.

To listen to Pat Brown, you would never know some of the more brutal facts about urban renewal. Brown assumes that poor people can't provide their own housing, which is true up to a point under State-induced inflation. But federal urban "renewers" have been singularly inept at providing the housing which Brown says is a responsibility of government. Liberals who are more sophisiticated than Pat Brown have admitted as much. According to Richard Cloward of the Columbia University School of Social Work, the federal bulldozer has destroyed 250,000 more low-income housing units than have been built under the urban renewal program. As the gag goes,-urban renewal is Negro removal.

It so happened that on the very day that Pat Brown was making his speech denouncing Ronald Reagan's "simplistic" addiction to the cause of "voluntarism," Governor Reagan was sending a letter to Senator Charles Percy of Illinois endorsing the latter's extremely sophisticated home ownership foundation bill. Percy's approach to solving the low-income housing question is not pure voluntarism, any more than contemporary banks that avail themselves of federal deposit insurance are purely voluntaristic.

But the Percy approach is designed to encourage individual ownership of homes, which is good enough for the Reagan who Pat Brown falsely dismisses as "the best salesman of the do-nothing school of government the conservatives have."

Public hearings on the Percy bill have been scheduled for July 26. The nub of the Percy proposition is the plan for setting up a National Home Ownership Foundation, which would be empowered by law to raise some two billion dollars by bond sales to private individuals. The bonds would be guaranteed by the federal government. The money would then be loaned to local associations to renovate slum property or even to build new homes for sale at cost to individual families on a three per cent interest basis.

Senator Percy, taking his cue from the experience of slum renovators in Indianapolis, Indiana, would allow any home buyer under the terms of his bill to make a down payment by joining in the work of reconstruction. This, in Indianapolis, is known as "sweat equity." Since Indianapolis is like other U. S. cities, what works there should work nationally.

The reason politicians like Pat Brown are bound to pass from the scene is that they are stuck with the anachronistic thinking of the Nineteen Thirties. It was assumed in that benighted decade that public housing was the only answer to saving cities. But if it hadn't been for a vast increase in private home construction over the past three decades, we would really be living three to a room.

The Percy plan, which has been endorsed by Pat Brown's successor, Reagan, would increase the scope of the private builder at the expense of an almost minuscule discomfort to the taxpayer, whose liability would consist of subsidizing low interest rates on low-income home mortgages where he is now paying much larger bills to subsidize public housing.

Designation of 'Eagles' Preferred by Senators

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Lots of things nowadays disturb members of Congress, Democrats as well as Republicans, but lately many of them have become somewhat annoyed by the way the newspapers use zoological terms in describing their attitudes on questions of policy in Vietnam. Thus, Senatos are described as either "Hawks" or "Doves," and while the distinguished legislators have no special antipathy to birds in either category, they would much prefer that some other bird be chosen to characterize them — as, for instance, "eagles."

Senator George Murphy of California, Republican, has embarked, therefore, on a crusade to raise the ornithological standard by sending around a small pin to be worn in the lapel. It's not exactly made of gold, but it is at least that color, and the California senator hopes to line up at least 50 members of the Senate who would avow themselves to be "eagles" rather than either "hawks" or "doves."

The "resolution" written by Senator Murphy is not intended to be filed for passage, but nevertheless has been distributed to many members of the Senate. Thirty-two have already signed the declaration, which reads as follows:

"The press and communications media have initiated a practice of designating members of the United States Senate as either 'Hawks' or 'Doves.'

"If one is designated a 'hawk' it carries the implication of the most unfortunate image generally attributed to the 'war monger.'

"A 'dove,' on the other hand, would ignore our national honor, interest, friends, agreements, stated principles and commitments in order to avoid conflict at any cost, and achieve peace at any price.

"This division of the members of the Senate has created some confusion at home and abroad and great uncertainty as to the true positions and dispositions of the members of the Senate, which might have a distorted and detrimental effect on our national policy.

"We would therefore point out that if bird-like designations must be used, our national bird has been the American eagle which one will recall, carries the olive branch of peace and friendship in the one claw, and the armed arrows of war in the other. This most impressive emblem has served our nation honorably and well in both peace and war for nearly 200 years. We see no reason to change.

"Therefore, we the undersigned members of the United States Senate respectfully request that hereafter we be referred to as eagles, so that everybody at home and abroad may know exactly where we stand."

There are several other members of the Senate who have since stated that they, too, would like to be known as "eagles," but their names have not yet been formally announced.

The truth is that there have been some errors committed in referring to various senators as either "hawks" or "doves," because the situation in Vietnam changes from day to day. Many of the senators who originally opposed American involvement in Southeast Asia have come out flatly in favor of continuing the war because, now that the mission has begun and large numbers of troops have been sent, the concept of retreat or surrender is not relished. Conversely, many of those who are called "hawks" resent the idea that they all favor enlargement of the war into such proportions as would produce a third world war.

So the attitude of a majority of the senators toward the Vietnam conflict can on the whole be described as a willingness to go along with President Johnson in doing whatever is thought best for the future security of the United States in world affairs.

Wallace Faces Uphill Fight for Presidency

WASHINGTON — The apparent gravity of Gov. Lurleen Wallace's health problems suggests that her husband George, will be traveling an uphill road if he continues his third-party campaign for the Presidency next year. Mrs. Wallace, who had had prior cancer surgery, underwent a prolonged exploratory operation in Houston Monday.

George Wallace, who could not run to succeed himself as Governor and successfully substituted his wife, has continued to oversee Alabama and the Wallace fortunes from an office across the hall from hers. Alabama observers say he acted as chief strategist and head-knocker with the secretarial and other aid it was his wife's prerogative to furnish her advisers.

The Alabama Constitution, however, states that if the Governor is out of the state for more than 20 consecutive days, the Lieutenant Governor must take over. Lieut. Gov. Albert Brewer, who is, of course, a Wallace ally, has been avoiding the questoin, but the Constitution is specific.

The power stakes are substantial. Governor Wallace has served barely six months, and besides the remainder of her four-year term, for which Brewer may be eligible, he could legally run for another four years By that time, 1970, George Wallace could try it again also.

A deal between George Wallace and Brewer could involve the Senate seat of the more liberal Lister Hill, who had a tight squeak in 1962. With President Johnson currently unpopular in Alabama, Hill is already due for re-election trouble next year.

Brewer is described in Montgomery as "capable," but it was noted that he yielded to the aggressive George Walace leadership in policy matters where his stand once seemed more liberal. He had been ambitious to succeed Wallace but stepped aside again when Wallace chose Lurleen as his successor in the statehouse.

It was not immediately apparent what the present Governor may be able or try to do within the next month, but statehouse sources believe she will have, at the very least, a long convalescence. If this proves true, it would probably be unwise for her husband to travel far and wide, even if he were willing to leave her.

He is easily the ablest of possible conservative Southern candidates for a third-party effort, which might detach a substantial part of the South from either President Johnson or from the rising Republican party there. It is too early to predict what could happen even if Governor Walace were not ill, but it can be demonstrated on paper that a vigorous effort by her husband might throw the election into the House of Representatives.

Neither major party would welcome such an outcome. Their fears, however, have not impelled them to election reforms which could prevent it, though proposals are now before Congress, as they have usualy been in the recent past.

Bureaucrats Hamstringing Mao's People's Revolution

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A Hong Kong contact writes that slowly but surely the Chinese bureaucracy is strangling Mao Tse-tung's Communist revolution.

Mao and his right-hand man Lin Piao, may temporarily win this round in the struggle. But the evidence is clear. The revolution is turning into a bureaucracy. Mao and Lin are finding that it's like punching so many feather pillows. The bureaucrats give way, then softly creep back.

Many of Mao's own second-generation revolutionaries — and some of his first generation men — have become bureaucratic. Many bureaucrats and bureaucratic-minded men were absorbed into the system when Mao's men took over.

In the fights to weed out deviationists, cautious men gained strength. Thus, over the past decade the bureaucrats have slowly become entrenched. Eventually, if things go as they have been going, the bureaucrats will eventually absorb the revolution. When that happens, Mao is finished. Peking may still call itself Communist. Mao's picture may still hang on the wall of government buildings. Mainland China will most certainly be a totalitarian dictatorship—and dangerous. But the revolution will be dead.

Today, paper work is slowing decisions. More and more time is spent in personal jockeying for power, passing the buck, getting the goods on some other official, covering over, putting on a show.

A source in Hong Kong has made up a list of those bureaucratic types that Mao and his aides believe are springing up in great numbers and strangling "progress:"

"Bureaucratic Capitalist"— Officials who secretly run private enterprises while holding government posts.

"Documentalists" — Cadres interested only in reading and writing official letters or documents, paying no attention to other matters.

"Formulaists" — Officials who do things according to a fixed program.

"Great Nationalists"—Arrogant Communist officials who put on superior airs when sent to work with minority peoples.

"Equalitarianists" — Men who favor equal pay regardless of the job and equal distribution of raw materials among factories regardless of their respective abilities to handle the job at hand.

"Commandists" — Officials who issue orders without explanation.

Departmentalists" — Officials so wrapped up in the needs and interests of their own department, they're blind to the interests of other offices.

"Tailists" — Henchmen who don't think, but simply follow their boss' lead as though they were merely the "tail" on an animal.

Worse yet, this source reports, offices through the mainland are filled with henchmen of other officials. Every man has a sponsor to whom he owes allegiance and who in turn owes allegiance to some other more powerful official. There are networks within networks or cliques owing their allegiance to men, not to ideas or objectives. Men are fighting to become attached to the men they think will win out.

A careful watch of Red China's internal power shifts could give the United States opportunities for foreseeing and forestalling dangerous moves by Peking and for seizing opportunities to apply tactics that would shift the power balance slightly to our favor.

Jerusalem, Ancient and Modern—Part Two

Two thousand years ago, the elders of each town dug wells. Women gathered around them and gossiped as they pounded clothes against flat rocks. Jerusalem was hot by day, chilly at night. Work began at the first hour, 6 a. m. and continued until the sixth. At noon, all work ceased and the men and women retired to their homes until the ninth hour. They worked again from 3 p. m. until 6.

Small homes were built of fieldstone. Under the topsoil, Jews cut soft limestone and fashioned a big rock to screen the front door from prying eyes, but not from the breeze. The farmers of Judea raised cereals and olives, dates, figs and grapes and chestnuts. Travelers complained that they walked ankle deep in the juice of fallen figs.

The people had donkeys, dogs, sheep and goats. Babies drank the milk of goats. Cow's milk was reserved for calves. The Romans introduced chickens to the people, and fowl became popular. The Law, interpreted by the great rabbis of the Sanhedrin, was in infinite detail and was not written. It was handed down, orally, from generation to generation.

The spoken language was Aramaic. Plowing was done by a team of oxen. Attached to the neck yoke was a heavy branch from a tree. This furrowed the rocky earth. All planting was done in October, the start of the rainy season. Reaping occurred in April, when the hills were green and the Feast of the Passover was at hand.

The farmer feared hail, fungus and locusts. He had an expression: "Better to reap two days too soon than two too late." In his impotence he promised God the first fruits, to insure that there would be first fruits.

The average Jew was clean, conscientious and consciously apart from the rest of the world. He would do business with a gentile, but he would not fraternize with him. He was friendly, sentimental, hypersensitive and emotional. When he was away from home, he was afflicted with an inner misery. He hated to fight, but he often bared his neck to the sword rather than blaspheme his faith.

All Jews paid a tax of one-half shekel per year to the great temple of Solomon. The shekel of Jerusalem was a crude coin made of 220 grains of silver. On one side was proclaimed "Jerusalem the Holy" in Hebrew. On the other, there was a triple lily with the words: "I will be as the dew until Israel; He shall grow as the lily."

The population of the country around A.D. 1 was 3,000,000. The temple shekel was worth a quarter, so $750,000 was paid in tax each year. The Jews also made harvest offerings; sacrificed 300,000 lambs at the Pasch; and made "sin" offerings as atonement.

Circumcision was a mark of male membership in the faith of Abraham. Commonly, a father circumcised his son, with assistance of one of the 7,000 Levitical priests on duty in the temple. To be a Jew was indeed difficult. The law thrived on dispute. On the Sabbath, a woman could not go out with a hair net, nor a necklace or a ring with no seal. A man could not move out of his house in sandals held together with nails, or a single sandal if he had no wound in his foot.

A man could not suck vinegar through aching teeth on the Sabbath, but he could deliver his wife on the Sabbath "and they may profane the Sabbath and tie up the navel string." A dead man might have his chin bound up, not to raise it but "that it may not sink lower." Children from the age of five were admonished against tying a knot, putting out a lamp, sewing two consecutive stitches and lighting a fire.

Most of all, the Jew believed in Oneness. He wanted one god, one temple, one nation, one people, on tribe, one family. The symbol of his aspirations was the temple. It was 1,600 feet long and 700 feet wide. Gold grapes four stories in height adorned the east portico to catch the first morning ray.

When that temple was destroyed, the tribes built another. When the original four-sided commandments of God were stolen, the people maintained their faith that this was the only abode of God on earth.

It is that way today. Jerusalem is as important to the people of Israel as Mecca is to Moslems, as Rome is to Catholics. Men still fight over the Queen of Peace. The city passes from hand to hand, all soiled. Peace? If the Messiah was to come to earth today, who would be the first to shoot Him? . . .

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Even as the Soviet Union rearms the Arabs and sends them military and political missions, critics of the Johnson administration blame U.S. policy in Vietnam for undercutting the so-called detente with Moscow.

Underlying their argument is the notion that a warmer, softer relationship with the Soviets was achieved for awhile by extraordinary displays of good will. It could have been maintained, they say, by our not doing anything to anger Russia—like fighting in Vietnam.

Since things like the nuclear test ban treaty, reduced European tensions and a mood of continental prosperity are seen as the direct products of detente, the critics deem nothing to be of greater importance.

They are undisturbed that the Russians for their part do not offer the kind of good will the critics want us to display. Soviet misbehavior in Arab lands is almost excused as an understandable response to our "falling from grace" in Vietnam. They insist that we, not Moscow, must take the soft initiatives.

History puts these notions in a rather curious light. The record indicates that the detente of which the critics speak grew not from newly yielding, generous attitudes by American leaders toward Russia, but from U.S. firmness in the 1962 Cuban missile crisis.

In his book, "The Atlantic Community," New York Times correspondent Drew Middleton writes:

"This was the great divide in East-West relations since the war . . . The relaxation of Soviet military pressure in the Caribbean was accompanied by a sensible relaxation of a political pressure in Germany and West Berlin . . . In a shrunken nuclear world, a nation that backs down in one area backs down in all."

He adds that easing of external Soviet pressure on Germany and other European areas was the "foremost cause" of the relaxed mood that allowed Europe to turn happily to its own inner concerns.

The historical support is immense for this argument that the missile crisis was of crucial pertinence in softening Moscow's pressure.

Though memories of the time have quickly dimmed, East-West tensions over Berlin were in fact worse in 1962 than at any time since the Berlin blockade ended in 1949.

The first nine months of 1962 were an anguished catalogue of Soviet ground and air harassments on the approaches to Berlin—all intended to loosen the West's grip on that city. On July 13, Nikita Khrushchev flatly demanded that the West pull out for good.

On Oct. 9, exactly one week before President Kennedy received his first hard information on Soviet missiles in Cuba, he spoke of the "great crisis" in Berlin.

Sunday, Oct. 28, Khrushchev's decision to take out the missiles ended the perilous Cuban episode. The Soviet leader was a different man when he next spoke at a press conference. Said he:

"We do not want Berlin, we do not need it."

With the easing of Cuba, he said, there no longer was need of a "summit." It would be a good time, he added, to renew serious talks on a test ban treaty.

That was Nov. 7. Three weeks later, an official Soviet statement called for a Berlin settlement but said nothing about the Allies getting out. On Dec. 4, 1962, East German leader Walter Ulbricht softtalked on Berlin.

From that time on, there have been no major, enduring harassments over Berlin. Moscow has not once indicated, since 1962, that Berlin is on its list of critical issues.

On July 25, 1965, the test ban pact was initiated. Other easings followed. The detente grew. But present events in the Middle East show how fragile it was, and history reveals how it was really born.

Peace in Vietnam Still Invisible After 17 Years

BY JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The search for peace is like trying to teach an elephant to play the violin.

For 17 years the United States has been involved in Vietnam—in all that time the main target has been the Communists—but victory, or even peace, is just as invisible as it was in 1950 when President Harry S. Truman first began giving the French economic aid to sustain them in their war with the Reds.

That went on for four years, until the French were smashed by Ho Chi Minh and his Communists and had to withdraw. Then a non-Communist regime was established in South Vietnam and American aid continued, first economic aid, then economic aid plus military advisers, then the whole works until now there are 465,000 U. S. troops there.

But the reports from Vietnam sound like a dreary monotony. Even the critics of the war in this country seem to have lost their intensity. They sound more muted than a year ago. But so do the Johnson administration and the American military. At the rate it's going this war can last for years.

Winning Slowly

The best that could be said about it last week by the American military commander there, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, was that the war is being won slowly. And he felt he needed another 100,000 to 140,000 men. If President Johnson doesn't give him the men he thinks necessary to do better, then the result looks like a stalemate, which is what the Communists say it is now.

The main reason, of course, for the lack of progress is that the United States is not fighting all-out. And won't permit itself to, if only because of world opinion if this country went all-out against such a primitive society as the North Vietnamese.

But this restraint is such a fixed and accepted policy, now—some variations in bombing are possible but they still won't be all-out—that it is generally accepted as a limitation within which the United States must do the best it can.

Yet, even if the North Vietnamese should be driven back behind their own frontier there is no assurance such a victory would be more than just a temporary one. Before South Vietnam can be considered safe against Communist encroachment, the vast peasantry of South Vietnam must want to support the South Vietnam government, which hasn't yet been proven truly democratic.

Can't Pull Out

That the Johnson administration is conscious of the lack of progress, and the prospect of an indefinite trudge, seems clear enough from its lack of glowing predictions. There is a general awareness, except perhaps among the extreme critics, that the United States can't just pull out, admitting defeat, without wrecking the confidence of other backward peoples that this country is willing to help them against aggression.

But there is uneasiness about the gloomy outlook and some of it was expressed this week by eight liberal House Republicans hoping some way could be found to bring an end to the fighting. They proposed the United States take the initiative in de-escalating the war—to see if Hanoi would respond —by a long pause in the bombing.

But they ovelook a few things, as Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, the House Democratic leader, pointed out, that this country halted the bombing several times and accepted 28 peace proposals from time to time all of which were ignored by the Communists.

In his inability to find a solution Johnson at least has the comfort of knowing that the critics can't agree on a solution, either.

Observers Patrol Area

By BETTY FLYNN
Chicago Daily News Service

UNITED NATIONS, July 10—The United Nations Security Council took a first step early today toward establishing a possible avenue toward a Middle Eastern settlement by authorizing U.N. observers to patrol the Suez Canal area.

Both Israel and the United Arab Republic assured Sec.-Gen. Thant they would not oppose the placement of U.N. observers between their troops in the Suez Canal area to help prevent further cease-fire violations.

Thant told the 15-member council that Gen. Odd Bull, chief of staff of the U.N. Truce Supervisory Organization, said an additional 25 observers would be needed for the job. Some 133 U.N. observers now patrol frontiers between Israel, Syria and Jordan and in the Jerusalem area.

In a unanimous consensus announced by council President Endalkachew Makonnen of Ethiopia, Thant was authorized to request Odd Bull to "work out with the governments of the U.A.R. and Israel the necessary arrangements" for the U.N. military observers.

The consensus is considered a breakthrough because it represents the first U.N. action since the Security Council passed several cease-fire resolutions last month.

It also represents the first movement toward Israel-Arab negotiations of any sort since the six-day war broke out June 5.

Neither Israel nor Egypt has officially given consent yet to placing U.N. observers between their troops in the Suez area.

Both Share Interest

However, both sides apparently share an interest in the authorization and stationing of such observers, in that such an action will most likely help to prevent further cease-fire violations.

U.N. observers now operate on the war frontiers between Israel and Syria and Jordan. The withdrawal of the United Nations Emergency Force (UNEF) from the Israel-U.A.R Sinai border in May left that area without any U.N. presence.

Some observers here were surprised that the U.A.R. would agree even in principle, to a U.N. presence, as cease-fire violations give the Egyptians an opportunity to renew their pleas for Israel's withdrawla of troops.

The Arabs here insist any interjection of U.N. observers must not be interpreted as setting any sort of cease-fire boundaries. Emphasize it is a "temporary" meaasure to quell sporadic outbreaks of violence.

However, one pro-Arab diplomat here said his country, if it were in the same position as the U.A.R., would not agree to a U.N. presence because it might imply the freezing of boundaries."

The council met shortly after 6 p. m. Sunday (EDT), and adjourned shortly after midnight. That time included three recesses totaling nearly five hours.

The Soviet Union and France, during private consultations, and resisted the wording of the consensus declaration.

The Soviets and French want to curtail the U.N. peacekeeping function as much as possible, holding to the position that the Security Council must retain full control of that power.

More important, the Russians and French wish to limit the role of the secretary-general. They remain bruised by the memory of the late Dag Hammerskjold, whose initiative actions in the Congo resulted in what the Soviet Union considered an unfavorable political situation.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Communist China's Mao Tse-tung would be hard put to send a major army into South Vietnam today.

China's Red army, navy and air force are split into feuding camps. Some are loyal to Mao and Lin Piao. Some have pledged allegiance to Mao's enemies. Some are setting themselves up as local warloards.

If Mao put his major loyal military forces into Vietnam, he would be naked at home against his enemies.

To regain control of Red China, Mao must first attain control of his own armed forces.

As of now, it is touch and go whether Mao will be able to achieve this military control. He has made some gains in recent months. Some key army men have come over to his side. But Mao has had some rough setbacks too.

Between October of last year and June of this year, Mao and Lin have run a deep-cutting purge of Red China's army, navy and air force.

Almost half of Peking's top general staff military officers have disappeared from public. Some were paraded through the streets by the Red Guards. Some were vilified on large posters. Some seemed to simply fade out of the hierarchy.

Some ousted generals, with armies of their own, have chosen to stand and fight in their own regions — which are thus now closed to Mao's men, except as they penetrate underground.

Information reaching this reporter from Hong Kong shows that the following Red Chinese army, navy and air force marshals and generals seem to have been purged.

Four of the seven vice ministers of the National Defense Ministry.

The chief of the Red army general staff, two of his deputy chiefs, the chief of military operations of the army general staff and his deputy.

Two of the five deputy directors of the General Political Department of the army.

Five of the six deputy directors of the General Logistics Department of the army, the department's political commissioner and his deputy.

Three of the six deputy chiefs of naval operations, the navy's top political commissar and his chief deputy.

Seven of the eight deputy chiefs of Red China's air force and both of the air force deputy political commissars.

The commanding general of the antiaircraft artillery forces.

The commanding general of the army artillery forces, his four deputy commanders and his three top political commissars.

The deputy commanding general of army engineers.

The commanding general of the armored forces and his deputy commander.

The three deputy commanders of the railway armed forces and its deputy political commissar.

The three deputy commanders of the public security forces and the deputy political commissar.

It will take some time for Mao's military forces to overcome purges as deep as these slashes obviously are. This internal turmoil accounts for Mao's repeated warnings to Hanoi that Ho Chi Minh must not count on Red Chinese troops.

'New Politics' Advocates Plan On Convention

By ABRA PRENTICE
Chicago Sun-Times Special

CHICAGO, July 10—A national convention expected to draw some 2,000 advocates of the "new politics" will be held in Chicago over the Labor Day weekend to plan strategy for the 1968 election, the Chicago Sun-Times has learned.

Representatives of civil rights, student and peace movements will discuss their stand on opposing the Johnson administration, American intervention in Vietnam and the posibility of building a third party.

The new politics has been defined by its adherents as "the politics of ordinary people who are fed up with superficial and hypocritical politics of the two major parties."

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. will be the keynote speaker at the convention, sponsored by the National Conference for New Politics. The session will convene in the Palmer House Hotel.

Although Dr. King in the past has remained aloof from political affiliation, there is an outside chance the convention may attempt to run the civil rights leader on a third-party presidential ticket with child-care authority Dr. Benjamin Spock.

On the other hand, there are those in the movement who question the advisibility of getting involved with presidential politics at this time, said Michael J. Wood, NCNP field director and coordinator of the convention.

More than a massive protest against President Johnson, the movement is interested in massive conversion of present politics and policies, Wood declared.

"We want to free good people in the Democratic party from a position of power to a position of conscience," he said.

The convention will be kicked off with a rally at the Chicago Coliseum on Aug. 31, preceded by two days of preconvention sessions during which issues and alternatives will be clarified by the steering committee and representatives from each accredited group.

Wood, 25, former chief fundraiser for the National Student Asn., disclosed the association's subversion by the Central Intelligence Agency in an article in Ramparts Magazine last March.

A total of 2,000 to 3,000 delegates and observers representing more than 200 national and local new politics organizations have been invited to attend the convention, Wood said in Chicago.

National groups include the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy (SANE), the Student Nonviolent Co-ordinating Committee (SNCC) and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, as well as local organizations like the Kenwood - Oakland Community Organizations, West Side Organization and Join Community Union.

Oil Experts Say

France Least Hit, Britain Worst by Arab Oil Boycott

By PAUL GHALI
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

PARIS, July 10 — France is the least hit in Western Europe by the Arab Oil Boycott of the Western World, and Britian the Worst. Germany comes second after Britian, while Benelux and Italy are expected to come out of it with comparatively small losses.

These are the conclusions reached by oil experts at the Paris organization for economic cooperation and development headquarters which groups representatives of 21 countries in charge of coordinating and developing Western Eurogean economy.

The menace repersented by the closing of Arab oil wells and pipelines is so serious for the West that OECD called and oil industry advisory committee to meet at Rotterdam to study the pooling of supplies and transport resources and to advise governments about such possibilities.

Arab oil production in 1966-67 was 10,300,000 barrels, 28 per cent of total world consumption and 67 per cent of West European needs alone. But, since the Arabs decided to use their oil as a diplomatic weapon in the middle East conflict, only half of its production is now flowing. This means that some 34 per cent of West Europe's normal consumption will remain unfilled while the boycott lasts.

It is difficult to asses how long West Europe can stand the pressure without rationing, since oil stocks in each country are considered to be a military secret. It is generally assumed however, that there is at least 90 days supply.

British statesmen have already declared that they will have to ration every day's use. Rises in the price of gasoline in various degrees have been announced in West Germany, Holland, Sweden, Belgium, Switzerland, Spain and even France.

Lafko to Resnick:

Get Airport Facts First

Theodore Lafko, manager of the Dutchess County Airport at New Hackensack, today called upon Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick to "get the facts before making rash statements publicly."

Lafko's comment came in reply to Rep. Resnick's criticism of the airport for overall conditions which the congressman claimed border on "criminal negligence" and called for immediate termination of the airport manager's contract with Dutchess County.

"In answer to Mr. Resnick's charges concerning my management of the Dutchess County Airport and the letter I supposedly received," Lafko told The Freeman, "I am more than shocked by the lack of ethics and low tactics displayed by a man of his high office."

Lafko said that up to 10 a. m. today he received no letter from Resnick "although he has given it wide distribution since last Monday."

"Concerning the incident he (Resnick) refers to," Lafko said, this aircraft was attempting to negotiate a crosswind landing and apparently got into some kind of trouble and blew a tire on landing. The runway was immediately closed because of the disabled aircraft. Subsequently, another aircraft arranged for by his (Resnick's) personnel came in and landed downwind in spite of the advice of the local Federal Aviation Agency service station."

Lafko said that the latter landing "disrupted traffic and nearly caused two mid-air collisions."

Resnick on Wednesday said in the letter addressed to the Dutchess Airport manager that last Saturday the plane in which he was flying hit a piece of metal upon landing "causing a blowout and a near accident."

Contending that Resnick "should get the facts before making rash statements," Lafko said, "I wonder if Mr. Resnick hasn't started his political season somewhat early and is using the air port as a vehicle to further his political efforts."

Continue Shooting In Middle East War

EL QANTARA, Occupied Evypt (AP) — The Middle East war is still going on for the tense Israeli veterans in this battle-scarred town, facing Egyptian troops only 150 yards away across the deserted Suez Canal.

"A cease-fire there may be," said a capatin at the army headquarters, "but as far as were concerned it is still war.

"Nothing more may happen for now or for perhaps another 10 years, but it is going to happen. We can't go on like this."

In El Qantara, a dusty little town on the east bank of the canal, the shooting war is still a reality.

Egyptian snipers fired Wednesday at a patrol of Sinai veterans north of Ismailia. There were no casualties. But the Israelis said the Egyptians also opened up on three patrol Jeeps south of Ismailia, wounding two Israelis. A military spokesman said in five hours of firing the Egyptians used machine guns, mortars, tanks and artillery, and the Israelis knocked out a tank and several machinegun pits.

On Tuesday, sharpshooting Israeli antiaircraft gunners a few miles east of El Qantara downed one of two fighter-bombers which flew over the east bank. It took only four shots from their 75mm guns.

Makeshift blinds of sacking have been strung up at the ends of streets facing the Egyptian bank so the Egyptians cannot observe Israeli movements.

One artillery battery commander radioed for instructions last week when his positions came under fire.

"Shall I return the fire?" he asked.

"No, I shouldn't bother. They won't hit anything anyway," headquarters told him.

El Quntara was badly shot up in the fighting last month, and only about two dozen Egyptians remain.

Patrols of two vehicles each rumble out of the town and nearby unit bases every day to scour the east bank of the canal north and south and to observe Egyptian positions.

"Mostly the Egyptians on the other side yell at us and shake their fists," said a half-track commander.

The Israeli soldiers are quartered in abandoned houses and cantonments. They are well supplied with stacks of captured canned food.

The town is ringed with tanks and antiaircraft guns dug in beside the wrecked batteries and positions the Egyptians held last month. The soldiers are tough, tanned, bored and tense with not always being able to hit back at the Egyptians.

Koenig Asks Inquiry Into 'Window Note'

A resolution dealing with salary suspension of Eric Hemphill, executive director of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, really went out the window during Tuesday night's Common Council meeting, and a probe is sought to determine why.

City Clerk Thomas R. Lyle reports that it was necessary to recover the typed resolution from the parking lot at the rear of City Hall after it "mysteriously" came from a window out into Tuesday night's rain, and it was considerably damp at the time of its adoption.

Lyle in a letter to Alderman Edward Norton (D) Seventh Ward, dated Wednesday, says:

"Alderman-at-Large Frank Koenig has asked me immediately upon arriving at my office this morning to write you as chairman of the Laws and Rules Committee to conduct an inquiry into the resolution regarding Mr. Hemphill's suspension of salary to be more specific as to the reasons surrounding the finding of the resolution outside the City Hall building.

"The alderman-at-large requests your attention to this matter immediately."

Inspection Tour Set in UR Area

An inspection tour of local properties as required by the Division of Housing and Urban Development in conjunction with local urban renewal is now in progress, Building Inspector George E. Radcliffe noted today.

It is being done for the Kingston Housing Code Commission by Housing Code Inspector Joseph F. Saccoman, who is working in a Downtown area designated as District 10.

This includes an East Strand area, North Street to Hasbrouck Avenue, Catherine, East Union, Walnut, Tompkins, Sycamore, Gill, Ponckhockie, Abruyn, Crane and Grove streets, and Lindsley Avenue. Most of the streets are in the Ponckhockie section.

It was decided before the inspection started to establish 10 districts and to inspect properties in two districts a year. District Nine on the lower end of Broadway West is still to be completed.

Both inside and outside of all buildings and houses are to be inspected. The building inspector asks cooperation of the public in assisting Saccoman, who carries credentials.

Ulster Crash Injures Trio

Three youths were injured shortly after 10:30 p. m. Wednesday when the car in which they were riding went out of control and rolled over on its side on Route 209 at Neighborhood Road, according to Kingston State Police.

Trooper John McMickle said the vehicle was driven by Peter Kricker, 19, of Bearsville, and as it entered Route 209 from Neighborhood Road it started to fishtail, went off the pavement under a bridge and rolled over.

Taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctors Ambulance were the driver, and two passengers Robert Mulligan, 18, of Ohayo Mt. Road, and Andre Mele, 18, both of Woodstock. They sustained abrasions and lacerations, authorities said.

Trooper Patrick Sheehan investigated and cited Kricker for driving at a speed too fast for conditions and operating a car with unsafe tires.

Increase Force

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—A Pennsylvania bill authorizing the State Police to increase its force by 1,200 men over the next four years was signed into law by Gov. Raymond Shafer Wednesday.

At the rate of 300 men a year, the buildup will give the State Police a complement of 3,550 troopers by 1971.

Shafer called the measure, which cleared the legislature Monday, "one of the most important pieces of legislation to be enacted in recent years."

Cases Heard In Court Here

Willie James London, 19, New Paltz student, who had entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry to a building, was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail by County Judge Raymond J. Mino. Credit for time served will be allowed. London is now serving a sentence under a petit larceny charge imposed in justice's court. Robert Harp appeared by assignment for defendant.

Assistant District Attorney Philip W. Schunk moved several cases on the criminal calendar. In several the pre-sentence probation report was not available and the cases were adjourned to July 26 at 11 a. m. for disposition. Among them were:

Anthony Fiordilino, sale and possession of narcotics.

Ronnie Eisenberg, possession of a stimulant drug.

James W. Clark, unlawful entry.

Ted Eugene Kennedy, unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Ludella Williams, who had pleaded guilty to petit larceny, was given a six months suspended sentence. She will be returned to Connecticut to complete serving a sentence imposed there for an offense committed in that state. Charles Saccoman appeared for defendant.

In the case of Lorraine Mae Strickland, Town of Plattekill, charged with attempted first degree murder and conspiracy as a felony, growing out of a shooting in which her husband was injured, entered a plea of innocent. William Gruner appeared for defendant and said she had been in jail 3½ months and moved for bail. Judge Mino reserved decision and announced he would decide the amount on Tuesday. Gruner said Mrs. Strickland had several children and was needed at home. Remanded to jail.

Donald Albert Dunn, who was also indicted in the Plattekill shooting, was represented by Hubert Richter who likewise moved for bail. A plea of innocent was entered. Richter said he was ready to proceed to trial. Judge Mino will announce the amount of Bail Tuesday. Remanded to jail.

An application for treatment under the Youthful Offender law was made by Attorney Edward T. Feeney in the case of Frank Landerway, Kingston, charged with robbery, assault and petit larceny arising out of an alleged mugging of Milton Cole. Feeney also asked that bail be fixed. Judge Mino reserved decision and remanded Landerway to jail.

In the case of Dennis Gregg Martin, a former plea of guilty was withdrawn and a plea of innocent was entered and Martin's counsel John Lynch asked that the defendant be treated under the Youthful Offender statute. Decision served and the case adjourned to July 26 at 11 a. m. Remainded.

Wins Long Battle For Trucking Permit

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Joe Jones, a trucker whose dreams of hauling goods across the nation ran into federal roadblocks, has finally won his long fight with the government.

"I think it's the greatest thing that ever happened to a little man," said the 43-year-old Negro Wednesday after he learned the Interstate Commerce Commission will issue a permit for him to operate his long-sought trucking company.

The permit was issued over the protests of major truck lines.

For Jones, it ended years plagued with disappointments, mounting debts and constant battles with the government as well as with large truck firms.

An ICC examiner had recommended that Jones be denied a permit because he said a large number of existing trucking lines were prepared to offer the services Jones would provide.

Jones is a disabled World War II veteran and the father of 11 children

"I am a little man, and I think when a little man sticks in there and fights, a lot of people will come to his aid," he said.

He gained national attention last year when the Small Business Association loaned him $25,000—enough money to finance a firm, but the Interstate Commerce Commission denied him a permit to operate it.

Jones was denied a permit seven times and the case even made its way to Congress.

On March 21, the ICC finally allowed him to operate his truck line. It said it was doing so partly to enable Jones to repay his loan to the SBA.

Shortly afterward, big trucking companies again complained, and issuance of the permit was withheld. Tuesday, the ICC decided there was not sufficient or proper cause to reconsider the case.

The commission has given Jones 90 days in which to file routine papers, including his proposed rates. Then, the ICC will issue a permit.

His equipment now includes 3 tractors, 20 trailers, and 20 drivers, "but I can't haul anything that really makes money until I have that permit," said Jones.

Compound Interest--Route To Wealth, Nest Eggs

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Most Americans have a common interest in compound interest, the reason being that it is the route to wealth for the steady saver and the foundation for some modest family fortunes.

This very ordinary-sounding concept, which has always intrigued the dreamer and profited the practical man, means that the interest you earn today begets more interest tomorrow.

Here is a hypothetical example, an extreme one, but one that establishes the point:

Something for Kin

If you wish to do something for your descendants, you might find a way to invest $1,000 at an annual interest rate of 4 per cent, with this interest calculated and applied to the account every three months.

Just let it sit there, and tell your children and grandchildren and theirs, too, to leave it there. Taxes may ravage it over the years, but few simple investments protect the saver from taxes. After 200 years your descendents will honors your foresight with a big fight over a big fortune.

It is difficult to determine what the sum would be. But if, for the purpose of illustration only, you could ignore taxes the total would be $2.5 million and growing at the rate of $100,000 a year.

This is because compound interest earns interest on interest. It grows like a flashlight beam, wider and wider. Simple interest on the principle alone is more like a laser beam. It never gets wider.

That same $1,000 at 4 per cent a year on the original total would earn only $40 a year. After 200 years the total interest would be $8,000 and the total sum only $9,000.

Compounding, then, helps explain a lot of those very impressive charts that show how savings accounts soar over a period of years. It explains the "magic" of the stock market adviser who seems to coin money.

It explains also the basis of much established wealth and illustrates how some old families can live off the interest alone. It explains as well how a seeming pauper can leave an estate of $100,000.

It means that a gift to a youngster at birth will double in size by the time the child reaches college, for time rather than wheeling and dealing is the main ingredient of compounding.

Let us take a simple case.

Assume that you saved $100 every three months, a total of $400 a year.

At the end of the first year, assuming deposits were made at the close of each quarter, you would have $406, a profit of only $6.

After five years, however, your account will reach $2,201.90. You will have earned $209.90 in interest. If you maintain your quarterly schedule for 10 years, you will have $4,888.63, with $888.63, of that in interest.

But as time does its job, the interest accumulates with great speed. After 20 years you will have $12,167.15, of which $4,167.15 will be a profit through interest.

Justice Bruhn Named to Head Divorce Bureau

A Kingston judge is one of three Supreme Court Justices designated to supervise Conciliation Bureaus under New York State's new divorce law.

Named by the Appellate Division, Third Judicial Department ,was Louis G. Bruhn of the Third Judicial District.

Others appointed are Supreme Court Justice Robert G. Main of Falone, Fourth Judicial District and Supreme Court Justice David F. Lee Jr. of Norwich, Sixth Judicial District.

The new law provides for divorce on grounds in addition to adultery, which previously was the sole ground. The additional grounds include cruel and inhuman treatment; abandonment for at least two years; confinement to prison after marriage for three or more consecutive years; and living apart under a separation decree or written agreement for two years or more.

Under the new law, Conciliation Bureaus will be established to conduct all conciliation proceedings after commencement of a divorce action, to attempt to effect a reconciliation of the spouses.

Justice Bruhn was appointed to the Supreme Court by Governor Rockefeller in January, 1961 to fill a vacancy, and was elected to a 14-year term in November, 1961. He formerly was County Judge and Judge of the Children's Court in Ulster County; District Attorney; Counsel to the Joint Legislative Committee to Revise the Election Law; and Clerk to the late Philip Elting, when the latter was delegate to the 1938 Constitutional Convention.

He was educated in the public schools in Kingston, Union College, Albany Law School, where he obtained his law degree in 1939; and attended Yale University in 1943-44 to study the Japanese language. He is a veteran of World War II.

Justice Bruhn is a member and past president of the Ulster County Bar Association, and a member of the New York State and American Bar Associations.

Justice Bruhn is married to the former Vivian V. Klothe. They have a son, First Lt. Louis Bruhn Jr., of the U. S. Air Forse. Except for war service time, and during his public office terms, Justice Bruhn was engaged in the private practice of law.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Gains outnumbered losers by better than 5 to 3 in the stock market early Thursday but the average performed indifferently.

Gains and losses by the key blue chips which make up the Dow Jones industrial average left that indicator with a small loss.

Du Pont lost 1, General Electric gained 1, General Motors lost a fraction, American Telephone gained a fraction.

The cigarette stocks rallied strongly Wednesday in anticipation of formal announcement Thursday by Columbia University of a new cigarette filter which reportedly is 70 per cent more effective than ordinary filters.

Opening blocks included:

Schenley, off ⅛ at 64 on 15,400 shares: Commonwealth Oil, up ⅜ at 27; Sperry Rand, up ¼ at 33⅞; and American Cyanamid, unchanged at 31⅛.

The slight dip in Wednesday's market was a welcome "consolidation" of the post-June advance, analysts said, providing what may hoped would be a refreshing pause.

Meanwhile, the news backdrop to Wall Street brightened.

New car sales in July rose 8.4 per cent over a year ago. Business inventories made their smallest advance since October 1964. F. W. Dodge Corp. predicted that housing starts this year will rise to 1.3 million units from 1.22 million in 1966.

Crude oil output soared last week to a record level, reflecting increases by various states in allowable production to ease shortages caused by the Middle East crisis.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING....

by ROGER E. SPEAR
Investment Advisor & Analyst

All New Ventures Contain Big Risk

Q) "At the age of 75 (my husband is 76) growth investments look rather foolish to this cautious old girl, and beside we are 'babes in the woods' as far as investments go. A salesman is trying to interest my husband and me in a newly formed insurance company. We have $5,000 in savings accounts earning us 4.5 per cent. Would you advise us to withdraw some of our savings and invest in this company?" G.E.

A) You may be a novice in the investment field but there is nothing wrong with your powers of reasoning. By no means would I advise you to transfer funds from your savings bank to a new venture, no matter how promising and glowing its future may sound. Any new company of this or any other type is a gamble at the start and should be undertaken only by those who can afford the risk involved. At your age, you want relative safety and income and this would provide neither. Keep your money in the bank.

Q) "I own General Electric, Pacific Gas & Electric and Chock Full o' Nuts. I am not worried about the first two but the last one, which I bought five years ago at 26, is still below my cost price. Should I take my loss or stay with this stock? What are the prospects for Hupp Corp.?" J.D.

A) Many stocks such as Chock Full o' Nuts which were too liberally appraised a few years ago are now selling on a more realistic basis and more in line with current and prospective earning power. The company has recently shown renewed growth after a slowdown and new product introduction should help to sustain the trend. I advise you to hold your stock. Hupp, in my opinion, is a low-priced speculation with limited attraction.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

CULTURALLY DEPRIVED CHILDREN are aided under the Giant Step program of Ellenville Central School District. The four-week summer program deals with culturally and economically deprived children who are potential dropouts and attempts are made to create meaningful experiences for them with the purpose of giving the students a different attitude toward school.

Giant Step Program in Ellenville

On July 5th, with regular school having been over barely a week, 85 third to seventh graders began filing into Ellenville Central's District 2 school cafeteria for the beginning of the summer Giant Step program.

The program is basically a reading program and its purpose is to create meaningful experiences for culturally and economically deprived children from the area.

Founded under Title 1 of the Elementary and Secondary Educational Act of 1965, the program was founded and is directed by Sanford Grossman.

Grossman said that the program attempts "to develop new attitudes towards school an the school environment" within those students who have been "discipline problems" and who have "not been reading on a par" with the rest of the students.

Art, Music Programs

The students enjoy activities including games of softball and kickball which is followed by a 50 minute reading period and an art session under the direction of Gordon Krajna, art instructor for the project.

Music is also featured in the project and on Thursday the students will listen to Sandy and the Sand Men, a rock and roll group. This will be followed by a second band called the Black and Whites.

Classical music is also included in Giant Step and on Friday the elementary school children will go to Lake Minnewaska where they will hear a 90-piece philharmonic orchestra of the Mid-Atlantic Music Camp.

Director Grossman also said that a play, Fiddler on the Roof, will be presented at the school next week.

Lasts Four Weeks

The program lasts four weeks and is in its second year of operation.

Shock Fatal

JAMESTOWN, N.Y (AP) — Lawrence Meade, 29, of Jamestown, suffered a fatal electric shock Wednesday when a metal pipe he was handling struck a 220-volt overhead power line outside his home.

Meade had taken the pipe out of a well in his yard, police said.

He lived on Meade Road.

Field trips, such as the Lake Minnewaska venture, are considered an integral part of the program, providing exposure to various cultural events for the young children.

Grossman added that next Monday will have the students traveling to the Mountaindale Playhouse, near Ellenville, to take a tour of the theatre, exploring its many facets.

The director believes that these field trips stimulate discussions and "increase the capacity" to learn.

"Children are chosen through the use of standardized tests," Grossman explained.

At the end of last year's program there was a dinner at Homowack Lodge in Spring Glen and Mark Twain Book Awards were presented to those students who read the most books during the course of the session.

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-Ellenville) presented the awards.

Grossman said that "each school was allocated funds to innovate programs" which would help the potential dropout, and he added that the program is under the auspices of the State Department of Education.

Discuss Court Reforms

By GERRY MCLAUGHLIN

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — In a Constitutional Convention that includes 126 lawyers on its delegate-roster, it shouldn't surprise anyone that the subject of court-reorganization aroused a lot of attention at the Capitol this week.

By overwhelming margins, most of the Democrats and Republicans composing the 185-delegate aggregation voted to knock down efforts to make sweeping changes in court structure.

Cite Separation

The effect of their action was to leave separate and intact such tribunals as the 14-judge Court of Claims, the controversial Surrogate Court, Family Court and the Civil and Criminal Courts in New York City.

No even the support of such prestigious figures as Bernard Botein, presiding justice of the Appellate Division, First Department, or Charles S. Desmond, former chief judge of the Court of Appeals, could put the measures across.

Botein, Desmond and William J. vanden Heuvel, the convention's fourth vice president, all Democrats, had led the convention fight to consolidate the Claims, Surrogate and Family Courts into State Supreme Court.

But many other of the 19 active judges serving as delegates disagreed for various reasons. Siding with them was Republican Delegate John H. Hughes of Syracuse, who rates a wide hearing on court matters by virtue of his long service as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Had Real Case

Although political observers here have a tendency to overdo interpretation of many developments as triumphs or defeats at long range for U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, they had a real case this week.

Kennedy has repeatedly called for court reorganization, especially in the patronage-oriented Surrogate Court, which handles cases involving more than $1 billion a year.

Kennedy's attack on the operations of the court helped elect an independent Democratic candidate for the surrogateship in Manhattan last year.

And this year, the junior senator hammered away again before a legislative hearing into court revision.

Kennedy's argument, shared to varying degrees by proponents of court reorganization here, is that the patronage involved in courts like the Surrogate make it a "toll booth" for widows and children in settling estates.

Delegates like Botein go easy on raising even the slightest doubt as to the integrity of the courts, but they do say that merged courts could perform more swiftly and do a better job for the public.

No Increases

In all of the discussion of the effect of mergers, there was not too much talk of increasing the total number of judges.

Those who mentioned it agreed that a boost in the judicial population could cut deep into the mounting backlog of cases before most of the state and city tribunals.

Unfortunately, however, the convention seems disinclined to involve itself in the politically painful task of providing for new judgeships.

That's a job for the Legislature, many of them say.

But the Legislature has tried unsuccessfully for years to create new court seats. The problef arises from the patronage question.

Which county leaders in New York City will control appointments? How many appointments?

These are questions raised every year in the Legislature. No solution appears to be in sight at the convention, even through many people had anticipated action by delegates.

Blocks Crush Ithaca Child

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Steven Bibbie, 3, was crushed to death Wednesday when three 60-pound cinder blocks fell on him from a chimney that collapsed on the side of a neighbor's house in this city.

The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bibbie.

Police said Steven was walking between his house and the neighbor's when the chimney, comprised of 30 blocks, fell apart.

The cause of the chimney's collapse was not known immediately.

New York Lottery Discussed in House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has parleyed the question of whether banks should sell lottery tickets into a debate over the Rockefeller and Johnson families, politics and "hillbilly morality."

Rep. Wright Patman, D Tex., sponsor of a measure to forbid use of banks as sales outlets for state lotteries, launched the debate Wednesday with a fusillade at New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller und his brothers and the Rockefeller foundations.

Uses Banks

New York uses banks as the principal sales outlet for its state lottery tickets.

Patman, chairman of the House Banking Commitee, said Rockefeller chose a lottery money-raiser to reduce the chance taxes would be raised on the wealthy and on tax-exempt foundations, and to create scores of jobs he could fill for state patronage.

But Rep. Paul A. Fino, R-N.Y., replied that Rockefeller opposed a state lottery in New York until it was ordered by referendum.

Fino also roared back with a suggestion that Patman, a persistent investigator of tendencies toward bank monopoly, look into "the concentration of bank ownership in Austin, Tex."

"Maybe the President ought to be registered as a bank holding company," Fino said. President Johnson's family holds interest in some Texas banks.

A succession of members including several who said they will vote for Patman's bill rose in defense of the Rockefellers and criticism of Patman's attack.

Rep. Ogden R. Reid, R-N.Y., said Patman's speech "demeans this body."

Highest Motives

House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford said he has differed politically with the Rockefeller brothers, "but there is not a scintilla of evidence that they are anything but the finest family with the highest motives."

Patman said an obvious source of revenue for New York State would be a levy on "those giant tax - exempt foundations that bear his family's name." But he added: "The history of his family is one of tax-dodging; not tax-paying.'

Patman swung his guns also on the other Rockefeller governor—Winthrop of Arkansas—who, he said, had backed off on a promise to chase gamblers out of his state.

"I don't say he was bought off by the gamblers I'm just saying he is proving to be naturally on the side of the gamblers in Arkansas," Patman said of the Arkansas chief executive.

Fino said the debate displayed "Patman's hillbilly morality" and likened it to the outlook of those he described as "bluenoses who staggered to the polls to vote for prohibition."

No Basis

Winthrop Rockefeller called the attack politically motivated and said from Little Rock, Ark., it had no basis in fact. Nelson Rockefeller was not available for comment in Hawaii, where he is staying.

Rep. Louis H. Wyman, a Republican from the other lottery-operating state, New Hampshire, said such state plans would be put out of business if Congress followed the path Patman had traced.

Wyman said the United States might have to turn to something like a national lottery if deficits continue.

"The suggestion that the sale of lottery tickets would debauch the people of this country is hogwash," Wyman said.

Rep. Jonathan B. Bingham, D-N.Y. told the House Patman's bill, applying to federally chartered or insured banks, would prevent all but 28 of New York's 2,998 banks from selling lottery tickets.

Dismiss Drug Charges Against Israeli Student

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—Two charges against an exchange student from Israel involving the illegal possession of drugs were dismissed Wednesday in City Court here.

Judge Leroy T. Walbridge dismissed the charges against Joseph A. Moussaieff, 33, after the student pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct.

Moussaieff, who is studying for a Ph.D. in psychology at the New School of Social Research in New York City, was arrested on May 26. He had been charged with possession of depressant and stimulant drugs, a misdemeanor, and possession of marijuana, a felony.

Moussaieff received a suspended six - month sentence and a $50 fine after pleading guilty to disorderly conduct.

Gets Permission

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —The Consolidated Gas Supply Corp. has received permission to install two pipelines, at an estimated cost of $2.7 million, to boost the natural gas supply in an area between here and Syracuse.

The utility was granted that permission Wednesday by the Public Service Commission.

The PSC said the increased gas supply would benefit customers of the New York State Electric and Gas Corp., and the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp.

The lines will parallel existing ones, at a point 10 miles from DeRuyter to Morrisville in Madison County, and through Herkimer for 11.3 miles.

Things Could Be a Lot Worse

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please come to our rescue as soon as possible! The terrific heat, which requires that we keep our windows open, plus our "problem," make things unbearable.

A very lovely, cultured, retired lady in our neighborhood "practices" the piano every morning, afternoon, and evening. She owns a fine grand piano whose tone carries great distances. Although she practices most of the day, she never seems to improve. We know every note of every piece she practices, and have even come to know when to expect the wrong notes.

We can't ask her not to play so loudly, or to keep her windows closed, or she would be offended. And we can't close ours. The newsboy who delivers our paper, delivers the same paper to her, so she must read your column. Please publish this. She is too nice to hurt, but we are suffering SILENT SUFFERS

DEAR SUFFERERS: You have my sympathy. But have you ever considered how lucky you are that this lady doesn't study voice, with a penchant for opera.

DEAR ABBY: We were four girls and two boys brought up in a Jewish home, so we never had ham, bacon, or pork in our house. Now that we are all grown and married, none of us has preserved the dietary customs, but our parents do. I must admit, mama and papa are very broad-minded about our liberal attitude.

My oldest sister has a beautiful home, and when she has mama and papa over she serves them a dairy dinner, but she always puts a big pork roast on the table for everyone else.

Mama and papa have never said anything, but I know they are hurt.

I once told my sister I thought she was out of line to put pork on the table with mama and papa there, and she said, "I'm no hypocrite. We have pork in this house, and they know it, so why hide it? Besides, in MY home I'll serve whatever I like."

I still think my sister is wrong. Or am I? THE YOUNGEST

DEAR YOUNGEST: Your sister is not only wrong, she's childish, disrespectful, and mean. She's trying to show contempt for the old traditions and at the same time let mama and papa know that she's her own boss now and can do as she pleases. But she doesn't have to hit them over the head with a pork roast to make her point.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 30 years. I am 52 and believe me, Abby, there is nothing wrong with me. I'm refined, educated, and nice looking. People tell m I look like 40. I go to gym and keep myself fit. I don't want to sound like a bragger, but I could take a job as a topless waitress if I wanted to. Enough about me. My problem is my husband. He wants a divorce. He says he doesn't have anybody else, he just wants to be free. I think he's lying, but I can't catch him. We have grown children who think he is crazy. They don't want me to give him a divorce.

I am ashamed to say this, but I still care for him and can't throw 30 years of mariage out the window. Am I wrong to refuse to give him a divorce HANGING ON

DEAR HANGING ON: No.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I would like to keep a tiger as a house pet, but people tell me there is a law against it. What law? We do not live in the city, we live in the country. We would have the tiger defanged and declawed and he would be kept in a sturdy cage to preclude his getting loose.

He couldn't do damage to any property but our own. The tiger is only a cub now and could be easily trained. Can you give me any good reason why the law would have anything to say about this? LOVES ANIMALS

DEAR LOVES: I can't, but a lawyer might. You may not keep a pet in violation of laws prohibiting cruelty to animals. Better clear this with your local humane society.

Woman Killed

GREAT VALLEY, N.Y. (AP) A 64-year-old woman was killed Wednesday when an automobile in which she was riding struck a tree along Route 98 near this community north of Salamanca.

She was Mrs. Bessie Paynter of Franklinville.

Her address was 34 Second Ave.

One-fourth of Argentina's 22 million people live in or near Buenos Aires.

Hugged Too Tight

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — As they discussed breaking their engagement, Gisela Dinger told Wilfried Kamper she still loved him. He hugged her tight, kissed her and suddenly she was dead, he told the court.

A medical examiner described it as a "reflex death," similar to that caused by a rabbit punch. Kamper's attorney cited the case of a German army lieutenant who, returning to Frankfurt during World War II, hugged his girl friend so tight that he broke her neck.

The court reduced the charge today from causing intentional bodily injury with fatal consequences, which carries at least a three-year prison term, to negligent homicide.

Kamper, a 29-year-old printer, was sentenced to 21 months in prison.

Ordinarily Eskimos live in homes of stone and sod, and live in temporary snow houses only while on the trail.

Heiress Gambi Fine In Birth of 3rd Son

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Grant Gallagher "is doing very nicely," his elated father said today. And so is "mom"—heiress Gamble Benedict Gallagher.

The 7 pounds, 8½ ounce boy, born Tuesday night at St. Luke's Hospital, is the third son for the former New York socialite, whose first marriage to her former chauffeur, Andre Porumbeanu, ended in an annulment in 1964.

But for Thomas F. Gallagher, a husky, 34-year-old State Police inspector who also had been married once before, it is the first son.

"I'm very happy it was a boy," held a reporter.

The Gallagners were married at nearby Clinton two years ago this month in a church ceremony attended by 15 family members and close friends. Gamble then was 24.

Gamble defied her grandmother, Ms. Katherine Geddes Benedict, by eloping with Porumbeanu in 1959. She and her brother Douglas, who later introduced Gallagher to Gamble, had been bequeathed the income of a $40-million estate.

The heiress and Porumbeanu were tracked own in Paris by detectives hired by the grandmother.

The marriage was annulled on the ground that Porumbeanu's Mexican divorce from his first wife was illegal.

The couple had two sons, Gheorghe and Grigoi, now 6 and 4. They live with the Gallaghers.

Gallagher joined the State Police in 1954 and was promoted to senior investigator in the Bureau of Criminal Investigation in 1962.

Gallagher's first marriage to the former Doris Kelly of Syracuse, ended in divorce. They had a daughter, Christine Ann, now 15.

The Gallaghers now live in Trenton.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — At a recent legislative hearing on a bill to prohibit Communists from speaking on Alabama university campuses, Ralph Callahan, executive vice president and general manager of the Anniston Star and a representative of the Alabama Press Association, said the best means of fighting communism was by "exposing it to the light of truth, and by comparison, let it perish."

The water, according to most scientists, was the birthplace of life. Oldest known fossils are of marine origin.

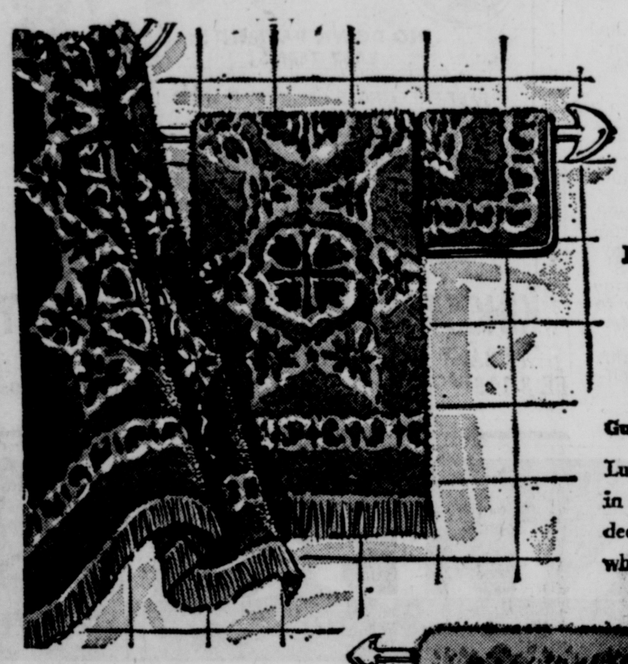

Highway Explodes

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — When the temperature reached 100 degrees recently, the paving of U. S. 40 became so hot it exploded. A Utah highway patrolman said it formed a "little volcano-like pile of rubble about a foot by 18 inches high."

Rescue Squad Lists Profit From Benefit

The Rondout Valley First Aid and Rescue Squad realized over $150 from a recent bake sale held at the Novi store lawn in High Falls.

Mrs. Rose Cooper and Mrs. Athalie Carroll were in charge of arrangements for the sale which was termed highly successful.

The next meeting of the squad will be 7 p. m. July 17 at the squad building in High Falls. A standard first aid course will be started at that time. The course is open to the public.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Twenty-three beauties competing in the annual Miss Tall Universe Pageant today generally agree on one thing — they wish there were more tall men.

Library Site Starts Aug. 1

The Board of Trustees of the library have voted unanimously to award the building contract to Schneider Bros. of New Paltz who had submitted the low bid. The Schneider Bros. underbid the second lowest by $7405. Inasmuch as the trustees had every assurance of the quality of the work and reliability of the Schneiders, there could be no question.

The library will be closed from July 21 until the building is complete. The estimated date of completion is Dec. 1. Actual building will start immediately after the fair (July 27) but a few days must be allowed for moving the books. The Junior Chamber of Commerce has offered to do this.

Claims Riflemens Group Is Lobbying Organization

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Richard D. McCarthy, D-N.Y., says the National Rifle Association has been lobbying against a gun - control bill, but is not registered as a lobbying organization.

The representative from Buffalo also said Wednesday that he had asked Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark to determine why the NRA is not registered.

A 1946 law requires that organizations attempting to influence the defeat or passage of legislation must register with the House clerk and the secretary of the Senate.

A spokesman for the NRA told a newsmen the association is not registered because "we're not a lobbying organization."

He said the association is classified by the Internal Revenue Service as a social welfare organization and, as such, is tax exempt.

McCarthy wrote Clark that the May issue of the NRA's journal, The American Rifleman," carried an advertisement soliciting new members.

He said an ad in the issue stated that one of the purposes of the association is to speak "with a strong voice on gun legislation."

The ad emphasized, McCarthy said, that the dues received from new members would be used to support the latter effort, along with other activities and services.

"The implication, in my opinion, is clear. The National Rifle Association was attempting to obtain funds from new members to carry on its fight against the gun-control proposals now under consideration," McCarthy asserted.

He said the failure of Congress to pass gun-control legislation—even though bills have been introduced for this purpose for years—is because Congress has been "the object of a well-organized, well-financed campaign by the gun lobby."

The principal member of that lobby, he said, is the National Rifle Association.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

Since the IBM excursion this spring of 1967 on the Alexander Hamilton sidewheeler from Kingston Point Park which went to about West Point and then turned around and came back to Kingston, everyone has been hoping that the Dayliners may once again dock at our park. The present problem seems to be that there is no dock for these boats at the park, so they have to use the Newcombe dock. A reader sent me a ticket, and although I did not take the trip, I went down to the park and stayed until the boat arrived, saw the excitement and then watched the boat leave.

No doubt it will be a tremendous job to beautify that park to the way we knew it in the old trolley-car days. There was one, owner, and his family. They hired a landscape artist, who took the dredged material and made Melody Island, on which was placed the band stand for music. They made paths, and brick-lined gutters to run the water off. The grass was trimmed, flower bushes and trees and all sorts of entertainment, from the penny arcade to the merry-go-round.

No doubt many readers have already obtained the story of a great American steamboat company by Kingstonian Donald C. Ringwald. The book is called Hudson River Day Line, published by Howell-North Books, Berkeley, Calif., 1965, and is sold on the book counters of our local stores or can be read from our public libraries. It is a large book with 228 pages, highly illustrated, a number of pictures from our own Kingston Point Park.

Ringwald worked on a Dayliner and has been an ardent collector of pictures and data on Hudson River items. He wrote in many magazines on the boats of the Hudson, and many articles on the Mary Powell, which material he gathered and used in this book. Pictures of the Mary Powell and the Norwich are of course there. We living near the Rondout Creek and Hudson got so we would recognize the whistles of our favorite boats, "Here comes the Mary Powell past the lighthouse!" which meant usually we had to be off the street and home. We watched the Norwich climb on slabs of ice, and by her weight and metal hull break the ice. For this reason she was called the Ice-King. We knew our sturdy little tugs, such as the Rob, and the people who worked on them.

When I look back at the excursions on the Dayliners, with the thousands of people on one boat, and the decorum and discipline exercised by the parents over the children, it seems impossible to believe. Somehow no one ever rushed or ran and shouted on the boats, no matter how small, for they were stopped immediately and placed in a sit-down position and given instructions to be quiet. It was such an adult world in the park and on the boat, although the children played their games, went on the merry-go-round, and enjoyed the machines in the penny-arcade. It was a large red building and you could enjoy still pictures by turning a handle, have your fortune told and get red-shelled peanuts and other goodies, each item cost only one penny. Miss Ann Cohen sat in a booth and changed our nickles into pennies. Everyone was happy, adjusted, contented and carefree.

Correct Play Insures Slam

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here is a hand from the recent Eastern championships that is almost a double-dummy problem. In other words, try to make the slam after looking at all 52 cards.

We can't make it against a trump opening but you do get a queen of hearts lead.

When George Rowe of New York played it, the queen of hearts was led. George ducked in dummy. West shifted to a trump but the shift came too late to beat the contract.

George won in dummy, led a diamond to his ace and ruffed a diamond. Then he came back to his hand with the queen of clubs and ruffed a second diamond.

At this point George stopped to cash dummy's ace of hearts. Then he came to his hand again with the king of clubs in order to ruff his last diamond. Then he ruffed a heart; played out his last two trumps and made the last trick with dummy's ace of clubs.

Why would a trump opening have beaten the slam?

South would have no way to get back to his hand often enough to ruff three diamonds in dummy. He would have to rely on making four club tricks and as you can see the clubs don't break.

Not as long as trumps broke 3-2 and clubs as good as 4-2, and the other suits reasonably—and, of course, as long as a trump wasn't opened.

VIET TAXI SERVICE — "It may not be the fastest but they're pretty reliable," wrote Walter Brandt Jr., to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brandt Sr., of Grant Street. The younger Brandt is shown on his way to work. Work for the third class gunner's mate is on a navy patrol boat in the inland waters of Vietnam.

TIME OUT FOR KIDS — Walter Brandt Jr., a third class gunner's mate with the Navy in Vietnam, is shown with some Vietnamese children during a lull in the fighting. According to Brandt's father, Walter Sr., of 63 Grant Street, his son spent a great deal of his off-duty time working with children.

Viet Vet Coming Home, Altar Next

Walter (Wally) Brandt Jr. is coming home from a year's tour in Vietnam with the Navy and the occasion is doubly joyous for his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Brandt Sr. of 63 Grant Street. The Freeman employe's son will be married to Miss Darlene White of East Kingston on July 30. He is due home July 19.

"We're sure glad he's finished with his duty over there," Brandt said today. "My wife and I had many anxious moments while he was in Vietnam, what with the reports of rising casualties and increased fighting. And Wally had a pretty dangerous job too."

Brandt explained that his son was stationed aboard a 31-foot patrol boat that went out on daily missions in search of Viet Cong.

The boat was apparently well-equipped for its mission. It featured twin 50-caliber machine guns mounted in the front with another "50" on the rear. It also had radar and grenade launchers. In addition, each member of the five-man crew was armed with an M-16, the United States' most modern rifle.

Brandt, 20, a third class gunner's mate, is a 1965 graduate of Kingston High School and joined the Navy for a four-year hitch in July of that year. He was assigned to gunnery school at Great Lakes, Ill.

Brandt said his son is interested in electronics and will probably work in that field when he is discharged.

Orders Wife Pay Ex-Mate Child Support

PROSSER, Wash. (AP) — A Superior Court judge has awarded William Hinson of Richland, Wash., $100 a month child support from his ex-wife.

Hinson, who was divorced in 1963, winning the custody of his four children, had been holding down two jobs. He was earning $465 a month.

Meanwhile his ex-wife, Mrs. John Cashen, married a man who earns $1,350 a month.

Judge James J. Lawless said it was the first time he had ever ordered a wife to pay child support, but that considering the circumstances, "the settlement was modest."

County Sewerage Study Nearer

A comprehensive sewerage study will be made of Ulster County and its political subdivisions, it was announced today by the Ulster County Planning Board.

The contract, tentatively set at $94,988, is subject to final approval of the State Commissioner of Health.

The engineering firm of Manganaro, Martin and Lincoln will prepare the report and Benjamin Webster, chairman of the Ulster County Planning Board, signed a contract with the firm.

Manganaro, Martin, and Lincoln has had extensive experience preparing sewerage studies and have worked with the City of Kingston before. The county study will coordinate existing similar studies completed or underway in several of the towns in the county, and while the study will not duplicate any prior work, it will thoroughly investigate possibilities for greater municipal cooperation in the development of sewerage systems where such cooperation is logical and more economical.

Reasons for Study

It was pointed out that in 1960 two out of every three year-round residents relied on some form of on-site sewage disposal. Expansion and development of new sewerage systems has lagged in relation to recent growth of the county.

The purpose of the study is to determine long and short-range problems of sewage disposal and explore ways and means to correct existing problem areas and plan for future growth.

The contract will be sent to Albany for final approval by the State Commissioner of Health and the State Comptroller before work can commence, and it is expected that the study will be completed within 12 months. The project will be solely financed by State monies.

Cost of the Project $94,988 Total

Of this, $19,920 has been earmarked for mapping; $15,744 for field investigation; $49,324 for office work and report; and $10,000 for subsurface investigation, laboratory analysis, etc.

Under the terms of the contract, interim reports will be developed seven months after the starting date for the village of New Paltz, city of Kingston towns of Esopus, Ulster, Saugerties, Highland, and Wallkill and the village of Saugerties and Highland.

As soon as possible Manganaro, Martin, and Lincoln will also review the studies of the towns of Ulster, Esopus, Marlboro, Woodstock, and Rosendale to determine how they may be adopted to fit in with the county-wide study.

In other business, the Planning Board welcomed Rick Jacob who was appointed senior planner with the board on July 1.

Jacob comes to Ulster from the State University of Iowa where he attended graduate school in the field of regional planning. He has worked for the Institute of Public Affairs as a research assistant while in graduate school, preparing a report outlining a suggested comprehensive planning approach for the State of Iowa.

Crowded Jail Still Headache

The old bugaboo of overcrowding in the Ulster County Jail remained a problem in June, according to monthly report issued today by Sheriff William B. Martin's office.

Once again the jail population exceeded the capacity of the jail. With a capacity of 42 males and 14 females, jail census averaged 72 prisoners per day. At the end of June there were 57 males and five females confined to jail, a total of 62. The men's quarters continued to be overcrowded.

In a move to detect or prevent crime in Ulster County, during the month of June Sheriff's deputies patrolled a total of 17,569 miles throughout the county. During that period 19 accidents were investigated and there were nine vehicle and traffic arrests. Assistance was given 75 motorists.

Recover Property

Value of property recovered through the sheriff's department totaled $2,052.50.

In the June report of Sheriff Martin the number of complaints investigated are recorded at 262, with 178 cases closed by investigation, there were 30 arrests and 54 of the cases remain open. There were 21 criminal warrants executed during the month, of which three were for felonies and 18 were for misdemeanors. Family Court summonses served numbered 27. Three persons were committed to other institutions.

The civil department was also active, serving 92 summonses and subpoenas, 68 summonses were served for the district attorney's office and there were 36 income executions. Property executions were 18. Receipts from bails and fines was $4,595 and receipts from executions was $9,387.84 and moneys from fees totaled $1,757.88. Fees are turned over to the county treasurer.

Attend School

During June deputies attended 30 hours of school, spent 239 hours on special detail and 2,440 hours at guard and desk duty.

The Special Services department fingerprinted 60 persons, issued 37 pistol permits, registered 50 pistols and made 110 record checks. Receipts were $203.

Parking lot summonses were issued to 58 violators, 73 man hours were consumed in policing the parking lot and the revenue was $671.50.

During June 5,868 meals were served in jail to county prisoners and 110 to city prisoners, a total of 5,978 meals.

Trusties worked 2,357 hours which at $2 an hour saved the county $4,774. By use of an inmate as barber the county saved an additional $100.

South African Race Policies

Ruling Party Members Differ

By DENNIS LEE ROYLE

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Prime Minister Balthazar J. Vorster's "softer approach toward some of South Africa's problems is bringing him trouble from elements of his own party.

Vorster has headed the government for nine months. He has been trying to improve this country's image abroad against critics of the apartheid—racial segregation—policy that prevails here.

He represents the Nationalist party, which has been in power since 1948. It is based on political dominance by the Afrikaner section of the electorate, those of Dutch ancestry who often have vied with people of English heritage.

Now some of the Nationalists are complaining of "liberalistic tendencies and unfaithfulness to the Afrikaner cause."

Vorster took over the premiership last September after Hendrik F. Verwoerd was assassinated.

For years Afrikaners favored Verwoerd's indifference to condemnation elsewhere of this country's racial policy. They were solidly behind his efforts to entrench Afrikaner leadership in South Africa's political, economic and cultural fields.

Verwoerd's reluctance to tone down the rigid laws of apartheid or bow to world criticism after the Sharpeville massacre of 1960 brought him high esteem among the Afrikaner group.

Wants Better Image

During the past nine months Vorster has endeavored to erase the "jailer" image thrust on him by some English-language newspapers He has encouraged friendly relations with South Africa's immediate neighbors, Lesotho, Botswana and Swaziland, all landlocked territories economically dependent on the republic and all led by blacks.

Some staunch upholders of apartheid view any divergence as a softening of the Afrikaner resolve to maintain complete racial segregation and an undermining of Afrikaner dominance in the country's affairs.

Those dedicated to the Verwoerd policy of total Afrikaner domination question the desirability of uncontrolled immigration, which is boosting the English-speaking population and some religious groups competitive with the Dutch Reformed Church.

There is discontent at Vorster's attempts to bring liberal-minded English speakers into the Nationalist fold.

Tradition says the dog mart show held at Fredericksburg, Va., began back when Indians traded for the settlers' hunting dogs.

JAPANESE VISIT IBM—George W. Tamke, general manager of Kingston IBM, played host recently to 13 leading Japanese industrialists. The group, representing some of the leadership of the nation's banking, mining, industrial, construction and public utility interests, included the Kingston plant in their tour of several U.S. financial and industrial institutions. Research Offers Innovations In Building, Manufacturing

By ROY MALONE

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Skyscrapers five times as high as the Empire State Building. Suspension bridges twice as long as today's longest. Drastic new shapes for aircraft.

These are the visualizations of researchers who for two years have been taking a close look at the way manmade fibers may be joined together to produce materials stronger and lighter than any natural material, including aluminum.

At Monsanto

Groundwork research in the field of composite materials is being done by scientists from Washington University and the Monsanto Co. in St. Louis.

The close look is made possible by a new electron scanning microscope able to magnify 200,000 times. With the $85,000 instrument, researchers scan fractured composites to see what broke first—the fiber or the bonding compound, the matrix.

The scanning microscope can look at samples in depth and can be used to take pictures. The depth of field advantage makes it superior to conventional microscopes with a short field of focus.

Some of the fibers being studied are made of carbon, boron, silicon carbide, glass, steel and silicon nitrite.

Initial research by the Air Force indicates the composites have three to five times the stiffness and strength of ordinary structural materials, yet are one-third the weight.

Used on Boats

The best known composite, made of glass fibers and plastics, is used for sports equipment, boats and car bodies.

"Suspension bridges twice as long as today's longest and skyscrapers five times as high as the Empire State would technically be possible," says Dr. John Calfee, Monsanto scientist in charge of the research program.

Obvious military advantages would be aircraft made of lightweight composites that would have 50 per cent more range or double the payload capacity, even with existing engines and fuels.

Dr. Stephen Tsai, Washington University professor in charge of the research laboratory, says "weight is the inescapable factor. We need strength to carry weight and stiffness to prevent collapse."

Tsai predicts the new materials will be costly. He says: "It all boils down to cost effectiveness. For a spacecraft to Mars it will be worth spending $4,000 a pound on materials.

"For regular aircraft, substituting a boron plastic for aluminum, the cost for the airframe

Killed in Crash Of Light Plane

HOLLEY, N.Y. (AP) — A 45-year-old aircraft mechanic was killed Wednesday night when a single-engined plane he was flying struck a telephone line and crashed on a rural road near this community west of Rochester.

State Police said Fredericq A. Keown of Rochester was the only person in the airplane. He was an aircraft mechanic for Eastman Kodak Co. in its hangar near Rochester.

Troopers said Keown was test-flying a 1965 Champion Citabrie airplane, owned by Thorpe Bell of Holley.

Bell said Keown took off in the aircraft from a field near Bell's home. He was airborne about 15 minutes when the engine failed, Bell added. The plane descended toward an open field.

The undercarriage of the plane struck the telephone line, forcing the craft to hit the road nose first, troopers said.

Keown lived at 217 Normandy Ave.

The moon's diameter has been estimated at about 2,160 miles.

Think Powell 'Dead' if He Stays Away

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep.-elect Adam Clayton Powell will be "politically dead" if he doesn't return to Harlem soon, say a group of militant civil rights leaders in his district.

The group plans to fly to Powell's Bimini island retreat this weekend to ask the flamboyant Powell to come home "in style."

However, an Episcopal clergyman, said he had recently received word that Powell would attend a national conference on black power in Newark, N.J., beginning July 20.

But there was no indication whether Powell would come to New York, where he faces arrest on a contempt of court charge stemming from a defamation of character judgment against him.

Powell won reelection to the House in April by an overwhelming vote—as he had previous elections—soon after its members excluded him from his seat on charges of misusing Congressional funds.

Omar Ahmed, chairman of the Manhattan chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, said Wednesday, "We're not going down there (Bimini Island) to beg. We're going to sit down and talk man-to-man with Adam and try to show him that Harlem needs him and people are beginning to wonder why he won't come back."

Banker Chairman

Progress Group Seeking $40,000

Kingston attorney, Howard C. St. John, president of Ulster County Savings Bank, has been appointed chairman of Mid Hudson Pattern for Progress' 1967 fund raising and membership campaign in the seven-county area.

The campaign goal is to raise some $40,000 to help finance Pattern's operation for the 1967 fiscal year, and also to broaden the membership base.

When Pattern was organized some 2½ years ago, according to St. John, it was with the agreement that a minimum annual operation budget of $150,000, based on an initial five-year commitment from the membership, would be required to attract a qualified staff and perform the complex studies required by the program.

As it stands now, St. John explained, Pattern's staff will be nearly complete by Aug. 1, including a president and chief executive officer and four associate directors . . . "but as yet only about $110,000 of the $150,000 has been formally raised and pledged for the five-year period."

Pattern, a privately financed regional planning, research and development corporation, was established by a nucleus of the area's business and professional leaders, who were concerned over the quality of the region's anticipated growth.

As its first project, he said, Pattern examined the possibility of establishing a university center in the region, and is now involved with the State University and Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute in a two-pronged study of the area's higher education needs.

Covers Wide Field

The agency's membership roster includes some 260 organizations and individuals, representing a broad spectrum of interests in the seven-county area, from large corporations such as IBM to farmers and housewives.

Besides directing the overall campaign, St. John will also be in charge of the drive in Ulster County. Other county chairmen include:

Bernard T. Brennan and Charles Dana Gibson in Columbia County; Carl M. Beery and Francis U. Ritz, Dutchess County; Israel Slutzky and James Warren, Greene County; Mrs. Harold Mamelok and Richard H. Stover, Orange County; Carl Peaters, Putnam County, and Paul Grossinger and Joseph J. Grubs, Sullivan County.

Gone Ape

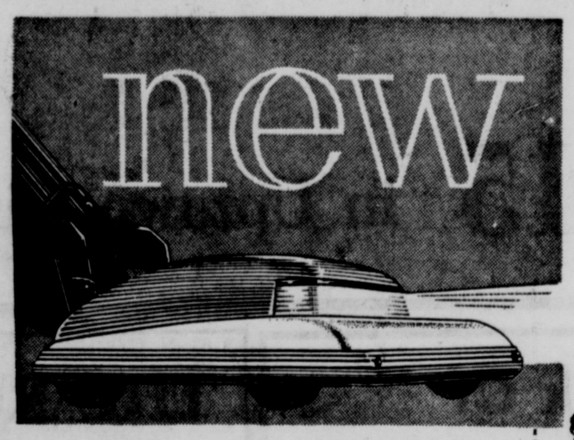

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—To put it mildly, the Yerkes Regional Primate Research Center at Emory University has "gone ape."

Dr. Geoffrey H. Bourne, center director, announced Wednesday another orangutan was born at the center July 9. It was the center's third such addition in the past nine months.

Bourne said only about 10 of the apes have been born in captivity.

Times Change, People Don't--Library Has It Now on Microfilm

By FRED SNYDER

"A boat with a steam Engine and Flap-a-Paddle wheel in the back chugged its Way last week down the Rondout Creek, while hundreds, Nay Thousands, watched and waved from the Banks. Some say the boat may become a Regular Occurrence in these Parts, and that it is Safe to Ride on one."

"President Lincoln Shot in the Head and Killed. Search for Assassin. Bloodhounds used. Nation in Turmoil. Plot Suspected. Andrew Johnson will Succeed Him. Eye-Witness Report."

Times change, customs, manners, and thinking change. People don't. That's probably the most substantial conclusion to be drawn from glancing through the Nineteenth Century newspapers currently being processed in the microfilm division of the Kingston City Library.

Microfilming of the old local records began late in June and is scheduled for completion by Nov. 1. So far about a quarter of the daily and weekly editions published by the 21 newspapers involved in the program have already been shot by Eastman Kodak Company and returned to the Broadway library where they are quickly filed away.

The papers are being filmed in chronological order, according to initial dates of publication. The oldest and earliest document in the library's posession is The Craftsman, an area weekly which made its debut March 29, 1820. The filming program will end with the shooting of two turn-of-the-century papers, The Kingston Weekly Leader and the Kingston Daily Express.

Library Director Robert Neal says that anyone interested may stop in at the periodical room in the basement of the library 1 to 5 p. m. any day of the week and look at the films. The library owns a Recordak machine which projects the tiny images onto a white-backed wall or desk.

Newspapers on the filming schedule in addition to those mentioned include the Ulster Sentinel, Ulster Paladium, Ulster Republican, Kingston Democratic Journal, Rondout Courier, Kingston Journal, Kingston Argus, Kingston Press, Rondout Freeman, Daily Freeman, Weekly Freeman, Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston Journal and Weekly Freeman, Kingston Daily Leader and the Kingston Weekly Freeman and Journal.

Most people who have been reading The Freeman or other metropolitan dailies all their lives will find much of the microfilm material rough going. American journalists in the Nineteenth Century were pioneers in their trade and lacked that sense of graded proportion and tight organizatin typical of reporting in the Twentieth Century.

Obscure Grammar

As a result, the pre-modern newsmen in Kingston and elsewhere tended to overemphasize even the slightest details and to use elaborate sentences which now seem hopelessly wordy, enthusiastic or simply antiquarian.

There are, for example the innumerable accounts of the first steamboats pulling up the Hudson River and into Rondout Creek, in the early part of the century.

The tone of the stories seems to indicate that local residents originally horse-laughed at Fulton's invention. The scorn gradually changes to a sort of joyful amusement, as if the steamboat were some new kind of toy. Later, steamboats of all makes and models are automatically accepted as conventional and necessary means of transportation.

The gradual but relentless shift in attitudes took place over a brief 15-year period, from 1826 to 1841, if the Ulster Sentinal, the Ulster Paladium and the Ulster Republican can be looked on as truly reflective of their times.

Report Lincoln's Death

Equally fascinating is the series of stories dealing with Lincoln's assassination and its aftermath in the early days of April, 1865, recounted locally in the Kingston Argus and the Rondout Courier.

None of the details are spared as the reporters swing into their gore-packed tales of how the bullet entered the skull, mow it was taken out, how the assassin John Wilkes Booth made his escape and how the police-hunt was managed. Unrestricted by contemporary libel laws, the national reporters accused or involved almost everybody in the "monstrous conspiracy" to kill the President. Most unfortunate of their victims was the famous Dr. Mudd, who wasn't officially cleared by Federal authorities for several decades. Dr. Mudd was the man who owned the barn where Booth was finally cornered by the police and bloodhounds.

The suspicion, fear and vindictiveness which characterize these stories somehow vaguely resembles the furor which has followed the assassination a hundred years later of President John F. Kennedy. Few of the stories in the weeks succeeding Lincoln's murder lend much credence to the possibility that it was essentially the act of a madman, a fact which has since been established.

A feature in the May 29, 1867 edition of the Argus, two years after the assassination, even questions Booth's part in the "horrific deed." Then, as now, the press and the public demanded reason and rationality, and strove to make the absurdity of the crime equal to the greatness of the man.

Also of interest are the human interest and local items spattered throughout the Nineteeth and early Twentieth Centuries. An anonymous subscriber to The Kingston Daily Freeman complained on May 15, 1905 that "Between West Shore Station and 280 Hasbrouck Avenue I lost a diamond horseshoe stud, and I'll reward anybody who'll get it back." Fifteen days later The Freeman notes the opening of Kingston Point Park for the summer, "with special concerts by Prof. Muller's First Regiment Band, assisted by Mrs. Wm. Duncan Phyfe, concert soprano."

The strange and unusual also made the news. The Kingston Daily Leader of Oct. 24, 1901 reports that Larry Ferguson, "crazed by ill health, ends his life." Manner of suicide? "He swallowed a dose of bluing and Paris green."

Civilians May Sub for GIs In Mac's Plan

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is thinking of substituting civilians for U.S. soldiers in some nonfighting tasks in Vietnam.

McNamara indicated this might be one way of holding down on further additions to U. S. forces there, and of reducing a top-heavy ratio of support troops to combat men.

At a White House news conference Wednesday, the Pentagon chief linked a discussion of possible additional U. S. reinforcements with a new assertion that "we must use more effectively the personnel that are presently there."

Noting this line, a newsman asked whether his emphasis on more efficient use of forces meant "that you hope to make up what General Westmoreland has requested with less input of new troops from the States."

"I think that muy be possible," McNamara replied.

"I suspect, for example, that we may possibly be able to use civilian construction personnel to substitute for certain military construction units that might otherwise have been required," he said.

Sonic Boom Probe

BRISTOL, England (AP) — Britain's doctors have appealed to the public for reports of damage to health believed caused by sonic booms.

The Scientific Committee of the British Medical Association holding its annual meeting here, also appealed Wednesday for reports on effects of the booms on delicate medical equipment.

"If the reports show that there is some risk to patients or delicate equipment, then we will send a report to the minister of technology," said Lawrence Abel, a London surgeon who heads the committee.

Alligator Loose

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — Visitors at Nay Aug Park are warned to be on the lookout for a dangerous alligator.

The three-foot-long 'gator escaped from the park zoo and was spotted Wednesday by two men as it was heading through nearby woods towards Roaring Brook River.

A search party of park employes combed the woods and dragged the river Wednesday without any luck.

Antoinette C. Mauro Exchanges Marital Vows With Edward A. Greco July 8th

St. Mary of the Snow Church, Saugerties, was the setting Saturday, July 8, for the wedding of Miss Antoinette C. Mauro, daughter of Pasquale Mauro, Saugerties, and the late Philomena Mauro, to Edward A. Greco, son of Mrs. Mildred Greco, this city, and the late Ernest Greco.

The Rev. Max Arganda officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. John Nau sang traditional musical selections, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Nancy Brandenberger. Bouquets of daisies decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line linen gown, accented with Venise lace motifs, featuring a panel train which was attached at the back waistline. A short veil was fastened to a sequined and pearl headpiece. She carried a bouquet of daisies.

Miss Kathleen Ann Saccoman, this city, niece of the bride was maid of honor. She wore a white and melon colored Saki gown with the waistline encircled with Venise lace daisies. Her matching headpiece featured a daisy trim. She carried a floral ball of white and melon colored daisies.

Miss Kathleen Amendola, Kingston, niece of the bridegrom, was junior bridesmaid. Her gown, headpiece and bouquet was identical to that of the honor attendant.

Flower girls were Miss Lillian Saccoman, this city, Miss Louise Fabiano, Saugerties, both nieces of the bride. They wore white lace net gowns styled in the Kate Greenaway fashion. Their headpieces were crowns of tiny melon colored flowers and each girl carried a floral ball of melon and white daisies.

James Amendola, Kingston, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Roland Mauro, Glasco, Albert V. Greco Jr., Glasco, both cousins of the bridegroom, Thomas R. Saccoman, this city, nephew of the bride.

After the wedding a reception for 166 guests was held at the Capri 400, Port Ewen.

For her wedding trip to New York and Puerto Rico, the bride selected a two-piece persimmon knit suit with matching accessories and a daisy corsage.

Mrs. Greco, a graduate of Saugerties High School and the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing, attended the Catholic University of America, Teachers' College, Columbia University, and is now assistant professor in nursing at Russell Sage College, Troy.

Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School, served in the U. S. Air Force during World War II, and is employed at Colonial Knitwear Co., Inc. Mr. Greco is a member of the Federated Musicians' Local No. 215, Kingston.

Keigher-Antonelli Marriage Told

Miss Susan Mary Keigher, daughter of Edward L. Keigher, Schenectady, and the late Agatha Keigher, was married June 3rd to Henry V. Antonelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Antonelli, Schenectady.

The Rev. Owen Shanely, pastor of St. Luke's Church, Schenectady, officiated at the ceremony. Traditional wedding selections were played. The altar was decorated with vases of white pompons.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a silk organza and peau d'ange lace gown. Lace accented the empire line styling, the edge of the A-line skirt and was appliqued on the tubular, chapel length train. A floral headpiece held a four-tiered veil of imported silk illusion. She carried a cascade of white roses and pompons.

Mrs. Michael Keigher, sister-in-law of the bride, Norwalk, Conn., was matron of honor. She wore a Saki gown accented with dyed-to-match lace at the sleeves and empire line. Her nile green and yellow hat matched her gown. She carried a cascade bouquet of white and yellow roses and pompons.

Attendants were Mrs. David Williard, Buffalo, and Miss Janet Pirro, Schenectady, cousin of the bridegroom. Their gowns were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant. Both attendants carried cascade bouquets of white and yellow roses and pompons.

Charles Maetta, cousin of the bridegroom, Schenectady, was best man. Ushers were Allen Pirro, cousin of the bridegroom, Syracuse, and Michael Keigher, brother of the bride, South Norwalk, Conn.

After the wedding a reception for 150 guests was held at the Elk's Lodge, Schenectady. Jule Pirro, uncle of the bridgegroom, and his band provided the music.

For her wedding trip to New York and southern Hudson Valley, the bride wore a beige double breasted suit with tangerine accessories.

Mrs. Antonelli attended Hudson Valley Community College and is now a dental hygienist for Dr. John Principe, Schenectady.

Her husband attended Siena College and Spencer Business School and is an accountant for the Schenectady Union Star. Mr. Antonelli is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Longendyke, 70 Montgomery Street, Saugerties.

Mr. and Mrs. Antonelli will reside at 609 Union Street, Schenectady.

Miniskirts Give Boost to Lingerie

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Nothing in fashion history has attracted as much attention to lingerie as the miniskirt.

And as sometimes happens after being in the public eye, the industry is up to all sorts of antics to make certain it does not wind up once again as under cover to outerwear.

"Walkaroundables" is a word coined by Warner's Slimwear to describe one such antic among others demonstrated Tuesday at a week-long program of fall style previews called the American Designer Series.

Ignoring the fact that the outerwear industry had previously stolen their style by producing evening gowns that look like nightgowns and little dresses that look like slips, the innerwear industry blithely brought out a line of bold patterned jersey pajamas and nighties. These are for sleeping in subways, park benches or beaches when there is no room at the inns.

Unmentionables with the intent of being mentioned after being seen under garments so short they barely cover their subject were more antics. Regimental stripes on the edges of pantie girdles match the regimental stripes on knee socks. Some girdles were flag striped or painted with pretty posies so any glimpse was a fashionable contribution to the over-all picture.

KHS Class of '57 Has 10-Yr. Reunion At Gov. Clinton

The Kingston High School Class of 1957 held its 10 year reunion June 30 weekend commencing with a cocktail party at the Governor Clinton Hotel for 80 couples.

Friday evening's entertainment was provided by roving musicians, John Brady, guitarist, Ingo Frolich, accordianist, and the Sweet Adeline Singers.

Guest of honor at Saturday evening's dinner-dance was Mrs. Louise Hayes, to whom the 1957 Maroon was dedicated. A gift presentation was made to her from the class.

The opening toast was made by Anthony Grimaldi, president of the class, who thanked the members for working so hard to make the reunion the success that it was. Robert C. Fisher, New Brunswick, N. J., delivered the invocation.

Allan Simmons and Mrs. Ann Modica Naccarato, chairman and co-chairman, presented awards of achievement to: Mrs. Lillian Webster Joseph, longest married; William Zerbst, most recently married; Mrs. Mary Ann Tirc Loughlin, greatest number of children; Mrs. Phyllis Kaye Greenwald and Mrs. Rosemary Berardi Mitchell, mothers of twins; Eugene Nagele, who traveled the greatest distance; Joseph Demeskie, most unusual occupation; Mrs. Lynda Marz Grimaldi, for producing and directing, "Smile You're the Class of '57", voted the best picture of the year.

The 20 minute home-movie with sound, depicting events in the social calendar of the 1957 classmates and Mrs. Hayes, consisted of hilarious scenes which transpired while attending KHS.

The program ended with the singing of the Alma Mater. Photographs were taken to remember the evening.

Packages are being assembled for members of the class who are serving in Vietnam.

A family picnic was held Sunday at Forsyth Park. Plans for a 20th reunion are being anticipated.

The Giant's Causeway is along the northern coast of County Antrim in Northern Ireland.

MRS. SAMUEL JAY LEVINE
(Photo Workshop)

A Rose Garden Wedding at Gov. Clinton Miss Sue L. Gurland-Samuel J. Levine

The rose garden of the Governor Clinton Hotel was the setting Sunday, July 2nd, for the marriage of Miss Sue Lynn Gurland, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Gurland, Woodstock, and Samuel Jay Levine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Levine, West New York, N. J.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport of Congregation Agudas Achim, assisted by cantor Herman Slomovits.

Family pews were marked with white satin bows and the canopy was decorated with white gladioli, mums, carnations and blue daisies, delphinium, springerii and ivy.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white peau de soie gown embroidered with Alencon lace on the empire bodice and fashioned with elbow-length Renaissance sleeves. Her watteau train was detachable. A chapel-length silk illusion veil was fastened to a crown embroidered with Alencon lace and seed pearls. She carried white orchids tied with stephanotis and satin ribbons on a white Bible.

Miss Judith Warshaw, 26 Johnston Avenue, this city, was maid of honor. She wore a floor-length blue shantung gown with empire styling and a matching picture hat. She carried a cascade bouquet of blue carnations centered with white glamellias.

Bridesmaid was Miss Franne Levine, West New York, N. J., sister of the bridegroom. Her gown, hat and bouquet was identical to that of the maid of honor.

Jacques Kozub, Chevy Chase, Md., was best man. Ushers were John Palmer, Valhalla, and Roger Walton, Queens.

A reception for 215 guests was held in the crystal room of the Governor Clinton Hotel.

For her wedding trip the bride selected a turquoise and white linen dress and jacket with white patent accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Levine, a graduate of Kingston High School, earned a BA degree at University of Rochester. She spent her junior year in France and was a member of Phi Sigma Iota, national language honorary sorority, at Rochester. Mrs. Levine was awarded her Master of Art degree in teaching this year from Yale University.

Her husband, a graduate of New Hampton Preparatory School, attended the University of Maryland. He was honorably discharged from the US Navy in 1965 where he served in Naval Security Group. Mr. Levine is a freelance manufacturers' representative in the food service equipment industry.

Mr. and Mrs. Levine will reside at 274 Parkview Drive, Rochester.

Ulster PPR Set Saturday

Under the new permanent registration law all voters must register this year in order to vote in the November elections.

Through the cooperation of the Ulster County Board of Elections, registration days were made available for the convenience of the residents of the Town of Ulster. Two registration dates have been set as of July 15 and August 12. Places for residents to register are the Town of Ulster Library on Morton Boulevard and Spring Lake Firehouse, Lucas Avenue Extension, with the time for registration set from 12 noon to 6 p. m.

Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz said that since the Town of Ulster surrounds the City of Kingston it would be more convenient to the residents to have two places for registration in separate areas on two dates using the allotted time sponsored by the Board of Elections.

'Family Way' May Upset Hayley's Fans

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The more avid movie fans long have displayed a reluctance to allow their favorites to grow up. Many followers of Judy Garland still see her as the wide-eyed Dorothy of "Wizard of Oz" searching over the rainbow, rather than the usual troubles of middle age.

New Image

Likewise those who have followed the career of Hayley Mills—you loved her in "Parent Trap," thrilled to her in "Summer Magic"—will find trouble adjusting to the new image in which she has cast herself, on and off the screen.

Hayley visited here after a six-city tour in which she exhibited her new self. Significantly, she has been accompanied by the coproducer-director, with his twin brother John, of her latest film, Roy Boulting, with whom she is unabashedly in love. This despite the facts that he is 53 and still married.

"The divorce has been going on for four long years," remarked Hayley, who recently turned 21. "Such things move very slowly in England."

"As for our future plans, I can't say, really," added Boulting, a slender man with hair combed over his forehead, Beatle style.

"If I were to say I can scarcely wait to be divorced so I can marry Hayley, it might very well prejudice my case. The British courts are funny that way; they like to make the final determination."

The new film, "The Family Way," also seems likely to upset the Hayley Mills fans. She has gone the way of all flesh for actresses nowadays. The film features a controversial scene in which she steps out of a bath tub and is viewed from the rear. The sequence almost caused "The Family Way" to be condemned by the National Catholic Office for Motion Pictures.

Boulting said that he had received "an impassioned telephone call" from a Warner Bros. executive, importuning hime to come to New York and discuss the matter with the Catholic officials. The director was told that the 70-odd reviewers for the group thought the film was excellent, yet it could not be passed because of strictures against nudity in films.

"Then I suggest you return to your bishops and have them change the rules against nudity; I will not take out the scene," declared Boulting after due consultation.

Later he was notified that the condemned rating had been changed to "recommended for adults with reservations.."

Hayley expects the new film to remove forever "the Pollyanna-Walt Disney" aura which has marked her career.

BOBBY RYDELL

Orange Fair Star August 1

Bobby Rydell, star of stage, screen and television, will be the feature attraction at the Orange County Fair Tuesday, Aug. 1. Appearing through the courtesy of the F. and M. Schaefer Brewing Co., Rydell will perform at two shows on Aug. 1, at 7 p. m. and again at 9:30 p. m.

Rydell began his career as a rock and roll singer in the early 1960s, but more recently has moved into the ballad field. He has starred in most medias including movies and nightclubs, but it was through recording and television that his career moved swiftly forward, particularly his many appearances on the Ed Sullivan and Perry Como Shows.

In addition to singing, the young performer will display his versatitity by playing drums and guitar.

Okay $6,000 Loan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development has approved a $6,000 loan to Lewiston, N.Y., for the purpose of planning storm-drainage facilities.

The department said Wednesday the estimated cost of the project in the Niagara County community was $412,600.

Want to Curb Public Building Funds in Rift

BOSTON (AP) — The new campaign to integrate building trades craft unions announced by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is aimed at an estimated $76.5 billion of public construction in the current fiscal year.

NAACP labor director Herbert Hill threatened Wednesday to seek federal court action in all states to withhold public construction funds fcom any project that does not employe its "full and fair share" of Negroes.

"If the lily-white AFL building trades craft unions continue to exlude Negroes let there be a national moratorium on all public construction," he said. "The crisis of the ghetto is the crisis of jobs. If we don't work, nobody's going to work."

Hill told a news conference that San Francisco's Bay area rapid transit project would be among the first targets of the NAACP. Other target cities, he said, are Los Angeles, New York, Cleveland, Chicago, Philadelphia, Washington, Boston, Columbus, Atlanta and Baltimore.

San Francisco's transit project was chosen for two reasons, Hill said: a Negro population in that city and neighboring Oakland "greater than in Birmingham, Ala.," and Oakland's critical rate of unemployment in excsss of 34 per cent. This is a crisis figure.."

The new vehicle on which the NAACP bases its program is a May 17 federal court decision which Hill said makes state and federal governments responsible for seeing that Negro workers have "their full and fair share" of jobs before contracts can be signed.

Kingston Legion Blanks Saugerties in Opener, 11-0

McGowan Hurls 1-Hitter, Fans Seventeen Men

Fireballing Frank McGowan pitched a 1-hitter, struck out 17 (10 in a row) Wednesday to pace Kingston American Legion to a 11-0 victory over the Saugerties Legion in the first game of the Ulster County Legion playoffs.

The only hit off McGowan was a third inning single by Leone, the Saugerties centerfielder and leadoff hitter. He walked only one batter in the seven inning contest.

With two outs in the fourth McGowan, the tall, angular portsider reeled off 10 consecutive strikeouts, believed to be a county, state and national Legion record.

Locals Score Often

The local lads scored in five of their six turns at bat with an 8-hit attack on Turck of Saugerties.

Two passed balls, three walks and Gary Schatzel's single figured in Kingston's 3-0 lead in the first two innings. Jack Watzka doubled Peete Watzka home in the third and it went to 5-0 in the fourth on a single by Derrenbacher.

Charlie Moore's home run to deep right center ignited a six-run Kingston rally in the sixth. McGowan walked, Charlie Lay singled and Derrenbacher doubled home his second run. Lay scored on an error and Greg Rios lashed what appeared to be a sure homer to deep center but he fell down rounding third, Weishaupt scored on the blast and Rios came home on an error.

Derrenbacher with his single and double accounted for two RBIs.

Schedule for the remainder of the county competition has been announced.

Sunday, July 16—Highland at Saugerties, Cantine Field, 2:30 p. m.

In another game, Southside Men's Club blanked Anton's Restaurant, 10-0, behind the 4-hit pitching of Frank Allen.

Pete Zeeh's tantalizing slow stuff baffled Michael's for three innings but in the fourth they erased Paul's 2-0 lead. George Dawson tripled, Pete Benson doubled, Buster Buel and Joe Benjamin singled in runs and the fourth scored on a passed ball.

Mouse Wolven, pitching a 5-hitter for his 7th win in 9 starts, blanked Paul's over the last five innings.

Perry's Grill Edges Subways, 2-1

Costello Hurls 4 Hitter, Fans 12 in City Loop

Perry's Grill literally stole a 2-1 victory from Subway Grill Wednesday to retain its City Softball League lead with a 9 and 2 record.

Bill Costello was his usual overpowering self with a 4-hitter and 12 strikeouts but a little bit of larceny helped put over Perry's with single tallies in the 6th and 7th innings.

It was 0-0 at the end of five with Bill Stokes working on a 1-hitter for Subways. Mel Williams led off with a double, stole third and scored on Ron Secreto's fly to centerfield.

Subway's tied it 1-1 in the top of the seventh with two of their four hits. Butch Blackwell led off with a single. John Bruck forced Blackwell at second and scored on Bob Gorsline's long double.

Perry's winning run was almost a one-man production stint by Mike Amato. He drew a walk, stole second and third and scored on Pat Berardi's single.

In Babe Ruth League

Undefeated Legion Topped by VFW, 5-2

Veterans of Foreign Wars stopped the previously undefeated American Legion, 5-2, behind the 4-hit pitching of Ricky Sorenson in Wednesday's Babe Ruth League action.

In another game, Elks Lodge piled up nine runs in the first two innings and went on to rout Food Fair, 12 to 5.

Sorenson struck out seven and walked three to get the decision over Harry Lyons, who gave up only four hits but walked 10.

VFW broke a 2-2 tie in the top of the seventh on back-to-back triples by Gary Short and George Geanuleas. The latter added a single. Lyons collected two of the four Legion safeties.

Six hits, including two triples got Elks off to a 7-0 lead in the first inning against Food Fair and Paul Bockelman held Food Fair under control.

Elks turned in a triple play in the 7th inning when with runners on first and second, Ernie Cozza lined to shortstop Paul Schleede and the play was completed via second and first.

Nicklaus Grabs Share of Lead In British Open

By THOMAS A. REEDY
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOYLAKE, England (AP) — Defending champion Jack Nicklaus fired a three-under-par 69 and moved into a tie with Australia's Bruce Devlin today for the early second-round lead in the British Open Golf Tournament. Each had a 36-hole score of 140.

Nicklaus, a strong 11-5 favorite to repeat, fired a 71 Wednesday.

Devlin, the rangy onetime plumber who won the rich Carling's Open last year, added a second 70 over the rugged, par 72 Hoylake course.

Roberto De Vicenzo, 44-year-old Argentinian, came in with a 71 for 141.

Olive Clark, 22-year-old Briton just embarking on his professional career after a fine record as an amateur, shot a 73 to go with his opening 70 and was at 143 in fine challenging position. No Briton has won the British Open since Max Faulker did it in 1951.

Michigan Entry Leads in Soaring

Party's Over Is Winner at MR

MONTICELLO—Once again last night a two-year-old trotting filly, Party's Over, proved when she stays on stride the party's over for the opposition. In eight trips to the races she stayed on the trot three times —and won each of those instances.

In the featured two-year-old trot at the Mighty M, Richard Thomas took the well-bred Party's Over from the four post, and made a bold bid coming to the half to overtake Walter's Gail, driven by Carmine Abbatiello.

Party's Over temporarily relinquished the leadership to the 8-5 wagering favorite, Dinero Chief, who had broken stride earlier but made a gallant comeback.

Coming to the wire ,though, Thomas urged Party's Over in front over the tiring Dinero Chief, and Al Burton's Sharp Volo was third.

The winner, owned by the F.O.F. Farms, Inc., of New York City, is by Sharpshooter out of Precious Rodney, A Rodney mare. Party's Over was timed in 2.11.2 and paid $17.80, 8.60 and 5.00 across the board.

Wednesday night's Daily Double was a 7-5 combination of Rusty Acclaim and Columbus Creed, worth $75.60.

Lee's Royal Boy won the third race, his first victory in 18 outings, and Danny Abbedale was second for a 6-2 Perfecta worth $91.60.

Ex-Basketball Star Has Run Of Bitter Luck

DETROIT (AP) — Life seems to have crumbled to pieces for Bill Buntin, former basketball star at the University of Michigan.

Buntin today is free on bond on a bad check charge. On Monday, in what was possibly a final effort to carve out a career in professional sports, Buntin was dropped from the roster of the National Football League's Detroit Lions because of a bad knee.

Buntin was trying out with the Lions as a tight end, after the Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Association released him just before the start of the 1966-67 season.

Last November, his 25-year-old-wife Evelyna started divorce proceedings against the 6-foot-7, 25-year-old Buntin.

"Everything seems to have gone to pot," Buntin said after his arraignment in Detroit Recorder's Court Wednesday on a charge of writing a check for $75 with insufficient funds to cover it.

"I never meant to rook anybody," he said. "I just used bad judgment."

Police said Buntin cashed the check to pay a bill at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Detroit. They said they delayed serving the warrant, first issued Nov. 29, 1966, hoping Buntin would square himself with the hotel.

Van Herpe Takes ENYGA Tourney

Aided by an eagle-2 on the 260 yard 16th hole, George Van Herpe, a 5-handicap Van Schaick player, carded 37-33-70 Wednesday to edge Gerald Messia of Troy by one stroke for Class A honors in the weekly Eastern New York Golf Association tourney at Mechanicville.

In the Class B competition at Mt. Anthony Country Club in Bennington, Vt., the brothers Vince and Dan Fuina of Pinehaven won Class B and C with 79 and 87, respectively.

Next week all three classes will be playing at Stamford Golf Club in the Catskills.

Red Hot Angels Meet League Leading Chisox

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

A week ago Minnesota's rampaging Twins arrived in Chicago to challenge the White Sox' American League lead in a four-game series.

A split kept Eddie Stanky's crew on top, and now it's California's turn to take a shot at the leaders.

Sam McDowell softened the White Sox up Wednesday night with a six-hitter as Cleveland stopped Chicago 5-3. It was the only game scheduled in the American League and shaved the Sox' lead to 1½ games over Detroit, two games over Minnesota and four over California.

In the only National League game played Wednesday, Mike Shannon cracked a two-run eighth-inning homer that lifted first-place St. Louis to a 4-3 victory over Pittsburgh.

The Angels bring a six-game winning streak into Chicago tonight and will have their new ace, George Brunet, ready to face the White Sox.

California spent much of May in the American League cellar but since June 7, Bill Rigney's team has spun off a 25-8 record and zoomed six spots in the standings.

Brunet, who dropped nine straight after winning the season's opener, is 6-2 during the hot streak and 7-11 over-all. Joel Horlen, 10-2, opposes the Angels.

Stanky used six pitchers trying to beat the Indians Wednesday, but Cleveland scored five runs in the first three innings and that was enough for McDowell, 6-7.

Sudden Sam, 6-7, threaded his way through trouble and relied on his strikeout pitch for the big out. He walked the bases-full in the fifth inning but then struck out Tom McCraw and Tommie Agee for two of his eight strikeouts.

Max Alvis ignited a two-run Indian rally in the first with a double and then cracked his 11th home run of the year in the second.

Tommy John, 8-6, was knocked out in the first inning and took the loss.

Shannon's eighth-inning shot brought the Cardinals from behind and enabled St. Louis to open a four-game bulge over Chicago in the National League race.

The Pirates had knocked out Dick Hughes and seized the lead in the top of the eighth on Gene Alley's two-run homer, a triple by Jerry May and Manny Mota's sacrifice fly.

But Orlando Cepeda opened the Cardinals' eighth with a single, knocking out Steve Blass, the Pittsburgh starter. Juan Pizarro retired Tim McCarver before Pete Mikkelsen relieved and Shannon cracked his sixth home run.

Shannon had singled across St. Louis' first run in the sixth as the Cardinals snapped the scoreless duel between Blass and Hughes.

10-Year-Old on Sidelines for LPGA Tourney

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — The adult touring pros had the course to themselves as 10-year-old Beverly Klass watched from the sidelines today in the opening round of the Ladies PGA Championship at Pleasant Valley Country Club.

A field of 52 was set to tee off in the $17,500, 72-hole tournament after Beverly's hopes of competing were dashed by a Superior Court ruling.

Judge John H. Meagher denied Wednesday a petition filed by the youngster's father, Jack Klass of Woodland Hills, Calif., which would have forced LPGA officials to accept Beverly's entry.

Klass, a contractor, had filed the petition, claiming the girl was being deprived of her rights. He said she has played in three other tournaments on the LPGA tour and regular members were jealous of her.

The LPGA voted last week to change its regulations and bar anyone under 18 from playing in one of its tournaments. A spokesman said the action was aimed directly at Beverly, who has won only $31.

The LPGA championship field was headed by Mickey Wright, the gals' all-time top money winner who won the Lady Carling in Baltimore last Sunday. Miss Wright has won the LPGA title four times.

Publinx Lead Shared by Two

SEATTLE (AP) — Scores of the country's top pay-as-you-play golfers headed for the bread - and - butter cutoff point here today with a veteran from Toledo, Ohio, and a newcomer fom Hawaii leading the pack.

The field of 150 will be trimmed to the low 60 scorers, plus ties, after the second 18-hole round in the four-day, 72-hole National Amateur Public Links Championship.

Hubert Farmer, 42-year-old diemaker now in his 12th Publinks tourney, and Art Fujita, a school ring salesman from Honolulu toured Seattle's tricky Jefferson Park Municipal Golf Course with identical two-under-par 35-33--68's to share the lead after Tuesday's opening 18 holes.

The only other par-buster on the heavily wooded, 6,329-yard par 36-34--70 layout was M. J. Zimmerman, 20-year-old Dayton University student from Kettering, Ohio. He shot a 37-32--69.

Dave Ojala, 1966 runnerup from Two Harbors, Minn., who had a 67 in practice Monday, wound up with a 39-39--78. Another early favorite, 1960 Publinks champ Verne Callison of Sacramento, Calif., shot 36-36--72.

Stars Checking in For All Star Grid

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Graduated collegiate football seats of the 1966 season—a squad of 51 of them—check in today to begin drills for the 34th All-Star game against the National Football League champions, the Green Bay Packers, in Soldier Field Aug. 4.

Some experts believe this year's crop is among the best ever assembled for the series. They will be out to revenge a 38-0 pasting by the Packers last year.

John Sauer returns for his second year as head coach of the All-Stars. His staff includes Bill Fisher, offensive line; Thurman McGraw, defensive line; Howard "Hopalong" Cassady, pass receivers; Galen Fiss, linebackers, and Warren Lahr, defensive backs.

The collegians will train at Northwestern University.

Four Ex-Champs Remain Alive In State Golf

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Sixteen golfers, including four former state titleholders, resume battle today in the second round of match play for the New York State Women's Amateur Golf championship.

All 16 move onto the golf course in the wake of two key first-round upsets Wednesday, as eighteen-year-old Mary Dwyer of Geneva rallied to beat defending champion Lancy Smith, 19, of suburban Eggertsville, 1-up in 19 holes.

Doll Story, the current State Junior champion, also was defeated by Gail Denenberg of Monroe, 2-up.

Former champions Mrs. Maxon Berger of suburban Eggertsville, Mrs. Bruce McGhie of New York, Diane Wilde of Amsterdam and Mrs. Albert Bower of Pelham survived first-round play by whipping their opponents.

Gail Sykes of Schenectady eliminated past state champion Mrs. Philip Allen of Syracuse, 2-up.

Miss Dwyer caught up to Miss Smith on the 18th hole where the defending titleholder was leading 1-up. A tie sent their match onto the 19th hole, which Miss Dwyer, utilizing pressure putting, parred while Miss Smith carded a bogey five.

Intrepid Cinch In Yachting Cup

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Barring a mishap, Intrepid, a sleek 12-meter sloop skippered by Bus Mosbacher, appears a cinch to defend the America's Cup against the challenge of Australia's Dame Pattie in September.

Intrepid posted her fourth straight victory Wednesday in the second round-robin series of the U.S. observation trials, defeating American Eagle.

Intrepid built a one - minute lead at the halfway mark of the 24.3-mile course and then pulled away to win by 3 minutes, 45 seconds.

Constellation, the 1964 America's Cup winner, squared her observation trial record 2-2 by defeating Columbia, the rebuilt 1958 winner, by 2:13. Columbia was left with a 2-2 mark.

Columbia was to meet American Eagle, loser of four straight, and Constellation was to go against Intrepid today.

Lions Have Holdout In Wayne Walker

DETROIT (AP) — It's contract-signing time at the Detroit Lions camp and at least one veteran said he could be a holdout.

"I'm going to try to get everything I can," linebacker Wayne Walker said Wednesday. "We're not that far apart, but we are far enough apart for me to be a holdout."

Russ Thomas, general manager of the National Football League club, said the situation was about the same as in previous years, but he declined to go down a roster and name those signed and those unsigned.

For 1967-68 Season

Bowlerama Slates Award, Renovations

Awarding of a new automobile, to be given at the close of the 1967-68 bowling season, plus renovations to the bar and snack bar area of the Bowlerama have been announced by John S. Ferraro, proprietor.

"Anybody bowling in leagues either at the Bowlerama or at the Mid-City Lanes is eligible to win a new car. Bowlers get one free chance for each league in which they bowl at least 2/3 of the games," Ferraro said.

The local Hall of Fame member said the automobile is being given in appreciation of the 30 years of patronage he has received from the Kingston people.

"This is my 30th anniversary in the bowling business here and if it weren't for the people who patronized me, I wouldn't have been here that long," Ferraro said.

He also made known that renovations have been started to the snack bar and the bar at the 52-lane Bowlerama and will be completed in time for the new season.

Ready for Season

John and Jack Ferraro said that both the Bowlerama and Mid-City establishments will be ready for the winter leagues. They said there are openings for bowlers in several leagues and those interested can contact them at either establishment.

They also said no increase in the price of bowling is anticipated.

Ferraro said the Bowlerama staff will include George Fleming's manager; Norman Cole, Frank Nadal, Rose Schatzel, Lou and Charlie Barone and Leon Crystal. Charlie Manfro will manage the Mid City Lanes with Joe Berardi assisting. Also on the staff is Marie Pulver.

In conjunction with the 30-year anniversary, Ferraro is planning a celebration later in the season.

The Rosewall Draw Irks Mal Anderson

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — Australia's Mal Anderson is hoping for a little better luck in the draw on the pro tennis tour.

"I've been on the tour only four weeks—and in the last three I've drawn Ken Rosewall as my first-round opponent," Anderson said Wednesday night after being ousted from the $25,000 U.S. Professional Grass Court Championships at Longwood.

Rosewall, top-seeded in the tournament, defeated his countryman 7-5, 6-8, 6-3 and advanced to the quarter-finals.

Another Australian, Fred Stolle, who won the U.S. amateur championship last year, joined Rosewall in advancing to the quarter-finals by whipping veteran Barry MacKay, Santa Monica, Calif., 6-3, 6-4 in a 51-minute match.

Name Hank Aaron Player of Month

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves was named the National League's player of the month for June—but he had a close contest with Ron Santo.

The Braves' outfielder beat the Chicago Cubs' third baseman by a 17-14 vote of the 50 baseball writers and sportscast-

Bausch Adds Firm

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Bausch & Lomb Inc., manufacturer of optical, electronic and scientific instruments, has acquired Houston Instrument Co., Houston, Tex.

The deal involved 33,000 shares of Bausch & Lomb common stock having a current market value of $2.5 million, William W. McQuilkin, Bausch president, said Wednesday.

Houston Instrument, which manufactures a line of recording equipment, will continue to operate under the present management as a part of Bausch's Analytical Sysems Division.

HARD TO MARKET: This expression began in the eighteenth century when cleaning and dyeing methods were not fully developed. Since most wool was white there was little market for black wool because it was too hard to process.

CARNIVAL

By DICK TURNER

"We felt right at home in every country we visited . . . in every one we ran into a demonstration or two!"

Two golfers, slicing their drives into the rough, went in search of the balls. They searched for a long time without success, a dear old lady watching them with kind and sympathetic eyes.

At last, after the search had proceeded for half an hour, she spoke to them.

Mrs. King—I hope I'm not interrupting, gentlemen, but would it be cheating if I told you where they are?

ACCEPTS AWARD — The 1967 Joseph Diehl Press Award was presented at the recent Department of New York Marine Corps League convention at Utica to the Ulster Detachment. At the presentation were (l-r) Commandant Edward Bange, of the Department of New York; Joseph Diehl, department publicity director and Ulster Detachment Commandant Frank Raffaldi and Gilbert E. Gray, East Area vice-commandant, who accepted the trophy.

Best Coverage in State

Press Honors for Ulster Marine Unit

Ulster Detachment Marine Corps League received the Joseph Diehl Press Award, and Eastern Area Vice Commandant Gilbert E. Gray was presented a citation at the 1967 convention of the Department of New York Marine Corps League at Hotel Utica, Utica.

A highlight of a convention session was a motion by Gray to send a telegram to President Johnson to inform him the Department of New York "backs him fully" on his stand in Vietnam. The motion was approved and the telegram was sent to Washington.

A motion by Ulster Detachment to hold the 1968 convention in Kingston was unanimously passed.

Thanks Freeman, Staff

The Press Award is made each year to the detachment in New York State that has the greatest amount of press coverage. The award was accepted by Commandant Frank Raffaldi and Vice Commandant Gray of the Eastern Area, an officer of the Ulster Detachment.

Accepting the trophy, Gray told the convention delegates of more than 200 that he "thanks The Kingston Daily Freeman and its staff for their coverage of our detachment through the past year," and he added," without the press releases in this great paper it would have been impossible for our Detachment to have won this trophy."

The award was presented by Marine Joseph Diehl, publicity director for the Department of New York.

Citation for "outstanding work" in the Ulster Detachment went to Senior Vice Commandant Daniel Fochi and Marines Eugene While and Kurt Gruber of the Ulster Joseph Sullivan of Kingston received a citation for his services throughout the last year to the state commandant Edward Bange.

Ulster Detachment received two citations for its membership accomplishments through the year and its service to the United States, the Marine Corps and the Marine Corps League.

Vice Commandant Gray led the local delegation at the convention. Others in the group unit. State Sgt.--at-Arms Jowere Valmore Carpenter, Fochi, Raffaldi, Sullivan, White and Gruber.

Interviewed at the convention by Charles McCarthy, former Kingston Freeman reporter, local delegates commented on the present American policy in Vietnam.

Gray, 25, said, "We have to live up to it. We committed ourselves. We have no alternative but to go on to final victory." Gray is a Korean veteran.

Fochi, 49, of the local unit said, "I am with it 100 per cent. We're there, so we must give our boys all the support they need."

Gruber, also a Korean veteran from Kingston, referred to antiwar demonstrations by college students as "a disgrace." He said, "They want to let what others have fought and died for go down the drain." He said he hated to see the war take men away from home and school, "but from the national angle we will lose a lot more if we do nothing in Vietnam."

Woes of IUE Spurs Trusteeship Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—The International Union of Electrical Workers' executive board will decide whether to place the union's District 3 under trusteeship, as a result of charges brought against two of its officers.

Paul Jennings, president of the AFL - CIO - affiliated union, made that announcement Wednesday. He did not say, however, when the vote would be taken.

The issue stems from an IUE committee report issued two weeks ago, charging that District 3 president Milton Weihrauch and the district's treasurer, Joseph Iozzi, had "put the union's funds to use for their personal benefit."

The union's headquarters here also said delegates to a District 3 meeting in Albany, N.Y., Tuesday voted to ask for trusteeship "to protect the interest of the 100,000 members in the district."

The district represents electrical workers in New York State and New Jersey.

Results Encouraging On Leukemia Battle

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A virus suspected by some scientists of being related to the cause of leukemia and lymphoma has been seen infecting, reproducing in and killing certain human cells grown in test tubes, a cancer researcher said today.

Dr. James T. Grace Jr., director of Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo, gave his report at the Third International Symposium on Comparative Leukemia Research in Paris, France.

The same virus, Grace added, also has been found to occasionally produce encephalitis, or sleeping sickness, when injected into the brains of newborn rabbits.

The experiments were conducted by Grace and seven other scientists at Roswell Park, New York State's cancer-research and treatment center.

The virus, of the so-called herpes type, were detectable inside numerous leukemia and lymphoma cells that have been taken from patients, then grown in cultures outside the body, Grace told the meeting.

Noting the difficulty that scientists have had in determining that the herpes-type virus has damaging effects on cultured human or laboratory animal cells, Grace said the Roswell findings were among the first to prove that damage does occur.

Furthermore, he said, it was the first time that the virus has been induced to grow and reproduce in a cell line outside the diseased one from which it was taken.

"We feel the reason these results were not obtained earlier is that the virus was only available in concentrations too low to exert any deleterious effect," Grace explained.

"Recently, however," he said, "we developed methods for producing large amounts of virus in the leukemia or lymphoma cell lines of origin, and hence our encouraging new results"

With this "tool," Grace added, other studies can now be undertaken in cancer research.
